Plants Assert Strike Over And Men Returning To Work

YOUNGSTOWN, O., June 26.—(AP)—While the steel strike front rumbled with threats of new strife, Governor Martin L. Davey of Ohio told leaders tonight he had turned down flatly Labor Secretary Perkins' "autocratic and dictatorial" plan for forcing a settlement.

Since the failure of her mediation board's peace efforts, Davey said, Miss Perkins had asked him to keep the steel plants closed and to bring Steel Makers Tom Girdler and Frank Purnell to the state capital—"and keep them here until they signed an agreement."

Miss Perkins, he added, had suggested by long distance telephone from Washington that he use the subpoena power of the state industrial commis-

New Attack Upon Madrid Launched

Mussolini Predicts Spain's Capital Will Fall In Short Time

(By Associated Press)

A new drive to capture Madrid and end the Spanish war appeared imminent last night (Saturday) as insurgents launched heavy attacks against the capital's defenders.

The offensive, preceded by shelling, came almost simultaneously with the prediction by Premier Benito Mussolini's newspaper, the Popolo D'Italia of Milan, that insurgents shortly would break Madrid's "iron ring" defenses and win the war.

It asserted a clean-up of the Basque territory was all that remained before Generalissimo Francisco Franco could throw the whole weight of his forces against Madrid.

"The iron band around Madrid, like that around Bilbao which seemed impenetrable, will be broken," it said.

Government commanders said insurgent attacks on Madrid, apparently in an effort to cut the highway to Valencia, temporarily capital on the Mediterranean, were repulsed with heavy insurgent losses.

Franco's men in the north pushed five miles further along the coastal highway linking conquered Bilbao

THORESON DEATH INQUIRY PUSHED

Third Man Taken Into Custody By Sheriff Held Without Charge

HATTIESBURG, Miss., June 26.—(AP)—District Attorney Jack Deavours took active charge today of the investigation into the mysterious slaying of Mrs. Mary Thoreson, whose body, pierced by two bullets, was found near a railroad trestle early Tuesday.

Deavours was reported to be questioning some of the score of witnesses who had appeared before a six-man jury directed by Coroner J. E. Hulett in an effort to solve the riddle of Mrs. Thoreson's death.

A habeas corpus hearing scheduled today for John Montague and Robert E. Seals, cab drivers detained without charge in connection with the investigation, was postponed until 2 p. m. Monday by County Judge R. J. Bishop on agreement between their counsel and state authorities.

A third man, J. F. "Blondy" Grove, taken into custody by Sheriff George Boone last night, also was being held without charge.

Her husband, Jack Thoreson, testified before the coroner's jury, now in recess, that he placed his wife aboard a bus Monday night to meet her brother for a visit to their mother in the country 18 miles from here.

DEMOCRATS AND HE AGREE UPON FOOD, SHOOTING AND SWIMMING

Politics Given Scant Attention In Jefferson Island Talks

'WE'RE GOING THROUGH,' SENTIMENT OF PRESIDENT

Spirit Of Fun And Good Will May Ease Some Sore Spots

ANNAPOLIS, Md., June 26.—(AP)—President Roosevelt and a swarm of Democrats found today that, however wide and deep might be their differences on serious subjects, they could agree upon the merits of food and swimming, fishing and shooting.

Even one Progressive was lured into the procession of merry-makers that traveled to sun-splashed Jefferson island, a dot in Chesapeake bay, fifteen miles from Maryland's capital, for a second day of fun and frolic with the president.

Representative Havenner of California, a Progressive elected with Democratic backing, was one of those who piled into four submarine chasers with twenty-odd senators and more than 80 representatives for the trip to the island. Those who checked the guest list said he had an invitation.

Representative Maverick, Democrat, Texas, speaking for the house liberal block, had urged that congress not adjourn until the administration's legislative program was enacted and quoted Mr. Roosevelt as saying cryptically: "We're going through."

And Representative Voorhis of California arranged to repeat that insistence to Mr. Roosevelt again today.

"We have got to stay here until we do a constructive job," he said unsmilingly. "Congress has a duty to perform that can't be discharged by going home."

It was a jovial, wise-cracking bunch of congress members who were greeted by Mr. Roosevelt and cabinet members when they reached the island today. Some carried bathing suits, others cameras and fishing tackle.

The accounts of the jollity which marked the first day of the outing had permeated most of the Democrats with the idea there would be little, if any, serious discussion. They agreed with Senator Connally of Texas, one of the leading supporters of the president's court bill, that they were "just going on a delightful trip."

But they agreed also that a touch of fun and good will might be instrumental in soothing some sores and wiping away some of the discord in party ranks.

There was one [illegible] aspect to the gathering.

SAYS HE PLANNED ONLY TO KILL HIS SWEETHEART

Relates How Veronica Gedeon's Mother Put Up Terrific Fight

CHICAGO, June 26.—(AP)—The Herald and Examiner in a copyrighted story said tonight Robert Irwin, sculptor hunted throughout the country for New York's Easter Sunday slayings, had surrendered in the Herald and Examiner office.

Detective headquarters and the central police station reported they had received no word of the man's capture.

The paper said Irwin confessed the slaying of Veronica Gedeon, artist's model, her mother and Frank Byrnes, a roomer in their New York City apartment.

In an additional statement in the paper, Irwin said his original purpose was to kill Veronica's sister, Ethel, whom he said he loved, but who had married another man.

"I wanted to kill Ethel," the paper quoted Irwin as saying, "because she was the dearest object in the world to me. I loved her and wanted her. I dreamed of modeling her as if beheaded, with her head far back and the mouth open.

"If my plans had carried out as they were made I would have killed her only. I did not wish to kill anybody else. The fact that I killed three others was accidental."

The paper said Irwin related that Veronica's mother was the first to die. It said he told them he went to the Gedeon apartment to wait for

THE BRIGHTER SIDE

CHICAGO, June 26.—It seems that a society has been formed in New York City to bring about the complete banishment of dogs from the big town.

The members of the society claim to be dog lovers. Their argument is that the dogs are the city's worst disease distributors, and should be sent to the country. They say the dogs would be much happier in the country. So would a lot of folks we know, for that matter.

Anyway, the society has chosen an excellent idea for stirring up a terrific row. Any time you suggest that something should be done to abate the dogs in New York City, you bring a world of trouble on the chaps who handle the letters from readers in the newspaper offices.

They suddenly find themselves up to their ears in communications about the dog being man's best friend. It suddenly occurs to us that we have never yet read anything about the dog being woman's best friend, and we wonder about that. Have the dogs been talking?

THE DEFENSE of the dog is one of the standard give-us-your-kind-applause topics for writers. It is a theme that handled with all the tremolo stops open, never fails to bring tears to the eyes of the reader who has known the love of some faithful old Towser.

We cry as hard as anybody else over those things when they are well done.

SCOUTS ARRIVE IN WASHINGTON

First Contingent Sets Up Tents For National Jamboree

WASHINGTON, June 26.—(AP)—Many colored tents housed more than 5,000 boy scouts tonight as the first contingent of 27,000 boys came to the capital for a 10-day jamboree Tuesday.

These early arrivals, called "hosts" troops, set up tents of every description over the 350 acre camp. Nine large tepees housed one group of 38 scouts from Pennsylvania.

Some troops encountered delays as their leaders hunted for the general quartermaster's tent to obtain a formal release of camping equipment which consisted of tables, pots, pans and blankets. Half the boys brought their own tents and the others used borrowed war department material.

Once the equipment was checked, the boys tackled their job eagerly, experienced hands converting grass

EXTRADITION DENIED FOR DEGRAFFENREED

BATON ROUGE, La., June 26.—(AP)—The governor's office announced today that Governor Lloyd C. Clark of Missouri refused to extradite J. T. DeGraffenreed to Louisiana to face five charges of obtaining labor with intent to defraud.

Governor Clark wrote that the requisition "did not comply with the requirements of the federal statutes." There was no other explanation. DeGraffenreed demanded a hearing on his proposed extradition June 14, following which Governor Clark refused extradition.

DeGraffenreed is wanted in Webster parish on charges he employed five men as laborers and failed to pay them for their work. The requisition signed by Governor Richard Leche on June 8 declared city police at Springfield, Mo., had DeGraffenreed in custody.

Actress Appears Deeply Moved As Simple Rites Performed

HOLLYWOOD, June 26.—(AP)—Dainty Mary Pickford—"America's sweetheart" to theater-going millions at the peak of her screen fame—knelt in a garden today on a white satin pillow and took as her third husband the handsome Charles (Buddy) Rogers.

She gave her age as 43, he as 34.

Under a sycamore tree decorated with calla lillies, Miss Pickford and Rogers, actor-orchestra leader, softly spoke their marriage vows at a brief ceremony witnessed by only 17 relatives and friends.

The actress, whose curls once were the toast of the film world, appeared deeply moved by the simple rites. When the dark-haired Rogers slipped the ring on his blue-clad bride's finger in the double-ring ceremony, she smiled, gripped her hand and squeezed the ring tightly.

ARMY AIRMAN AND BROTHER KILLED

TIMMONSVILLE, S. C., June 26—(AP)—Capt. Marion Huggins, U. S. A., of Maxwell Field, Ala., and his brother, Thomas Huggins, a student at the University of South Carolina, were killed tonight when their army plane crashed within the town limits.

Captain Huggins was piloting the plane slowly over the town when it side-slipped and crashed in a street. Wires were knocked down.

Captain Huggins was home on a furlough.

Dr. F. B. Turner said the brothers had been aloft for some time, apparently "taking things easily," and that many of the villagers were watching the plane.

Suddenly, he said, "something went wrong, the plane wobbled and went down."

Both occupants, he added, were dead when removed from the wreckage.

NEW ATTACK

with Santander, 45 miles to the west.

The insurgent cruisers Baleares and Canaries were reported to have joined in the attack, shelling retreating Basque soldiers from the sea.

Basque army leaders entrenched 55,000 men in the Somorrostro Heights, 13 miles from Bilbao, in an effort to halt the insurgent columns. Asturian dynamiters were reported to have ambushed and killed 150 insurgents near Valmaseda.

In London, British statesmen studied their next move in an attempt to gain full cooperation of Germany and Italy in the non-intervention committee and the international naval patrol to prevent arms and men from reaching either side in the Spanish conflict.

Informed sources said the British leaders would try to convince Italy and Germany that those two nations would be aiding the Valencia government and prolonging the civil war if they remained outside the naval patrol.

Italy and Germany quit the patrol after Britain and France refused to sanction a naval demonstration off Valencia as a "warning" to the Spanish government after alleged attempts of its submarines to torpedo the German cruiser Leipzig June 15 and 18.

Disappointment over the refusal of Britain and France to join her in the naval demonstration against Valencia remained a powerful factor in Berlin's attitude toward the Spanish crisis.

The German foreign office mouthpiece, Diplomatische Politische Korrespondenz, said responsibility for future development of the European crisis "rests with those powers which did not desire a logical and healthy settlement of the Leipzig incident and declined to join in an act of solidarity of a defensive, preventive nature."

MUSSOLINI PREDICTS INSURGENT VICTORY

ROME, June 26.—(AP)—Premier Benito Mussolini's newspaper, Il Popolo d'Italia, tonight promised the Italian people that Europe's present crisis would be solved shortly by the fall of Madrid and a complete insurgent victory in Spain.

Diplomats and others who read the prominently displayed article believe they recognized its forceful style as that of Il Duce himself.

It declared that a clean-up of the Basque territory was all that remained to be done before Generallissimo Francisco Franco could throw the whole weight of his forces against Madrid.

The article was placed before the main editorial, devoted to the general Fascist complaint of the day, that Communist and "Democratic" newspapers are indulging in "lying" accusations concerning Italy's action in Spain.

Those newspapers, the articles said, predicted Spain would be the grave of Fascism. On the contrary, it asserted, Spain will be the "tomb of Bolshevism."

This, Il Popolo continued, would bring peace to western Europe.

The article was titled "Cry And Avalanche," interpreted as a take-off on Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's speech in the house of commons yesterday. Chamberlain compared the situation to mountains where a "sudden exclamation may start an avalanche."

Il Popolo's comment was published as Fascist officiala assured inquirers that a calm attitude was justifiable.

They said, however, that Italy and Germany would not welcome separate action by Great Britain and France to assume a naval patrol of the entire Spanish coast.

The officials indicated, however, that such action was not likely, since the entire matter must be discussed by the non-intervention committee, in which Germany and Italy retain formal membership. (Germany and Italy withdrew their warships from the four-power naval patrol of Spain, but did not quit the "hands off Spain" committee.)

TAYLOR WILL NOT STUDY HIS LATIN

BATON ROUGE, La., June 26.—(AP)—In spite of the advice of Secretary of War Harry Woodring, adding to that given by numerous other notables, 15-year-old Richard L. Taylor reiterated today he would forsake his study of Latin at university high school next fall.

Young Richard sent queries to national figures throughout the country on whether or not he should continue studying the language. Of more than a score replies, only H. L. Mencken advised him to drop the subject. Mencken said Latin is "no longer useful in any practical sense."

Woodring is the latest to answer Richard's query. He advised "a continued study of Latin" because it is "an excellent method of training the mind."

"We are too prone to speak of Latin as a dead language," Woodring wrote. "The stately and impressive speech of the Romans will never die. . . . Culturally, the study of Latin will never be replaced."

Richard agreed with the majority that "Latin is a good thing."

"I'm glad I took as much as I did," he said today, "but I just got a 'D' in second year Latin this year and it was the second time I had taken the course. It's just too hard for me."

Fifty-odd years ago, the annual death rate of New York City was 30 per 1,000 of population; today, it is about 12 per 1,000.

Freddie Bartholomew, the famous English boy actor, is one of the leading figures in the screen version of the Kipling story, which deals with a poor little rich boy's rejuvenation.

The realistic and vital portrayal of numerous character roles is the outstanding quality of this picture. Freddie Bartholomew, as the spoiled Harve, who falls overboard from a luxurious ocean liner into the chill waters of the North Atlantic, gives an understanding interpretation to his role that many a veteran actor might envy.

Spencer Tracy plays the role of Manuel, the Portuguese fisherman who rescues Harve and finally teaches the boy a higher meaning in life than drinking six ice cream sodas.

The lovable Lionel Barrymore holds his own as the gentle, able skipper of the fishing boat.

MARTIN PROTESTS FINE 'TOO SMALL'

Those persons unlucky enough to draw a ticket for over-parking usually attempt to "soft soap" the judge in an effort to trim down their fine.

It remained for J. J. Martin, manager of J. C. Penney company, to ask that the fine be increased instead of reduced. It happened Saturday when Mrs. J. J. Martin was given a ticket for over-parking. Colonel Martin, summoned by the indignant spouse, who insisted that he "square" it with Judge W. M. Harper, nearly caused a riot when he suggested that the judge instead of fining his wife the usual one dollar, asked that she be made to pay a $5 fine instead.

"While serving with the United States marines on the United States ship Dakota I was never fined for over-parking," Colonel Martin explained. "I see no reason, therefore, why Mrs. Martin should not be made to pay $5 instead of only one dollar for over-parking on dry land."

Judge Harper took the case under advisement.

Fishing Best Way To Keep Lad At Home

DALLAS, Tex., June 26.—(AP)—The Rev. Robert I. Bell, "sky pilot of the rails," from Bogalusa, La., has discovered a way to deal with the restless lad who itches to take to the high road.

To fathers observing such embryonic hoboism in their offspring, he advises: take the boy fishing.

The Rev. Mr. Bell for six years has worked among hoboes and transients, meeting them in their "jungle" retreats and when they hop from freight trains in railroad yards. He carries a checkerboard to gain their interest and a medical kit to minister to their needs. He talks to the confirmed hobo but concentrates on the youngsters who appear to be just breaking in on the life of wanderers.

"In talking with fathers about boys who want to roam I urge them to go places with their sons," he said, "especially to take them fishing. That is a good way to make them forget their restlessness."

He said he found that to be true in his work over the country. A little attention at home often will nip in the bud the youthful yen for vagrant travels, he said.

Bell said he has received cooperation from many railroads in his work, receiving free transportation and permission to meet transients when they ride into rail yards.

Bell is a Baptist minister and said he became interested in work among the hoboes while on his way to accept a pastorate in Florida.

MONEY FOR TRACE PARKWAY APPROVED

WASHINGTON, June 26.—(AP)—The senate appropriations committee approved today an appropriation of $7,200,000 for the Blue Ridge and Natchez Trace parkways.

This increased by $2,200,000 the figure provided by the house in the interior department appropriation bill.

Of the total, $4,500,000 would be used for the Blue Ridge parkway, connecting the Shenandoah and Great Smoky Mountains National parks in Virginia and North Carolina, and $2,700,000 for the Natchez Trace parkway in Mississippi, Alabama and Tennessee.

Senate committee action left the Blue Ridge parkway item unchanged from the form in which it passed the house, but raised the Natchez Trace appropriation $2,200,000.

The Blue Ridge appropriation had been increased on the house floor from $2,500,000, the budget estimate, to $4,500,000, in a fight led by Representative Robert L. Doughton of North Carolina.

The senate bill provided that the allotment to the Natchez Trace parkway should be expanded among the three states according to parkway mileage in each state, with consideration for the amounts already expended by Mississippi.

PROFIT SHARING PLAN IS ADOPTED

Monroe Furniture Co. To Give Bonuses Based On Business Growth

A new profit-sharing plan, in which all employes of the Monroe Furniture company are to participate, was announced Saturday by Joe Isaacman, vice-president and general manager of the firm.

Under the plan all employes will be given a bonus at the end of each quarterly period dating from June 1 last, based on the volume of increased retail sales as compared with the corresponding period of 1936.

"Briefly, the plan will work out like this," Mr. Isaacman said, in disclosing the details: "Should the volume of retail sales at the end of the quarter show an increase of 10 per cent, each employe will receive a bonus of five per cent of the salary paid him for the quarter; if the increase is 15 per cent, each employe will receive a bonus of seven and one-half per cent of his salary. This method has been adopted for the reason that it appears to us to be an equitable arrangement in permitting all employes to share in anticipated profits from business expansion. General salary adjustments in harmony with new conditions had been effected last year. The new plan is an added feature of the firm's policy to enable employes to participate in the benefits of business growth."

Salary bonuses based on business increase will apply to all stores operated under the management of the Monroe Furniture company. There are five such stores in Louisiana and Mississippi.

The arrangement to begin the quarterly periods with June 1, Mr. Isaacman explained, was made because this permits a uniform grouping of "lean" and "fat" business months. The year 1936 was chosen as the basic year in the plan, because it was a better than average year in business activity. The year 1937 bids fair to show a substantial increase over that of last year, it was stated.

"The executives of the Monroe Furniture company arrived at this plan after a thorough canvass of its merits," Mr. Isaacman said, "and adopted it as one which we believe will serve to emphasize the relationship of cooperation which exists between management and employes, because it will enable each member of the organization to derive advantage from the growth and expansion of the business."

About 60 employes of the company will participate in the profit-sharing plan.

NYA CENTER FOR CITY PROPOSED

Approval Of Plans In Washington Next Step Required

Members of the National Youth administration unit in West Monroe are awaiting approval of plans for a community center there which it is proposed to erect at Coleman avenue and South Fifth street.

Construction will be in charge of Howard Blackstock, who stated that he expects the materials for the building to be placed on the site by the end of the week. The building will be constructed by NYA youth, with the exception of skilled labor, such as electrical and plumbing work. Forms for the concrete piers are being constructed at the workshop in Monroe. Sand and gravel have been secured and placed on the grounds through the cooperation of the West Monroe Kiwanis club which is also sponsoring a fund for equipping the building when completed. When completed the building will become the property of the city of West Monroe.

The center will maintain a canning kitchen and sewing room and a boys' workshop. Regular classes in home making, home economics and sewing will be taught under NYA supervision for both whites and negroes.

realized it, rheumatism had settled over my body and my hands were terribly affected. It seemed I ached and pained constantly. My hands would actually turn blood red at times they were in such a horrible condition. In spite of all the medicines I tried I could not get relief. But finally a friend, knowing of Gly-Cas and of my condition, persuaded me to give it a trial and today I am feeling fine."

"Gly-Cas took hold of my entire system, toned me up and removed those dreadful poisons which had caused me such miserable suffering for years," continued Mrs. Lindner. "The rheumatism has been driven from my system. I now get around with ease, eat and sleep well and new strength and energy has been restored since I began this new Gly-Cas. It is easy to understand why so many people are praising this new remedy—it deserves it all and more too."

ABANDONS TEST IN LISBON AREA

T. L. James Company Moves Rig For Well In Lincoln Parish Fowler Field

RUSTON, La., June 26.—(Special)—T. L. James and Company today announced abandonment of their Baker No. 1, se ne section 25-21-5 Lisbon area, with total depth given as 5,343 feet. The well cored the pettit lime and failed to locate production, near the 5,200 foot zone.

Schlumberger test made on the well late Friday revealed approximately four feet of slightly saturated lime, however, with an extremely low porosity. The operators considered the pay insufficient to justify setting casing, hence the abandonment.

Top of the Travis Peak was logged in the well at 5,200. The Baker location is half mile north of production in the field. The same operators are moving the rig used on the Baker and setting up on the James-Spence No. 1, section 11-17-4, Lincoln parish, offsetting the Fowler discovery well in the Simsboro field. No definite depth has been announced for the test, however.

Glassell and Glassell today began tearing down the rig on their Dubach Gray No. 1, section 16-20-3, after abandoning the test at 6,620 feet. The Travis Peak was logged at 5,515 feet. The pettit lime, cored in the test at 5,202-5,211 feet failed to produce.

Easton Belmont Dye No. 1, section 21-19-4, Lincoln parish, this afternoon was drilling at 5,493 feet with coring expected to be commenced at 5,500 sometime Sunday evening. The massive anhydrite was logged at 4,588 with elevation given as 227 feet, derrick floor.

Lyons and Neely are waiting on surface cement at 800 feet, after spudding in early Thursday morning in their Louella Alcock No. 1 north half wsw section 6-20-4, Lincoln parish.

WIRELESS GROUP IN LOCAL TESTS

Amateur Operators Prove Equipment Of Service During Emergencies

Using portable radio equipment in an attempt to test in event of emergency such as occurred in the high water early this year, the Monroe Amateur Radio club last week-end operated a radio station entirely divorced from local power mains. Consistent communication was maintained throughout Saturday afternoon, evening and night and until late Sunday afternoon, proving conclusively that contact could be maintained though all telephone and telegraph lines were out of commission.

The complete locally built transmitter and receiver were installed at Lone Grave Bluff near Corey, La., and contact was maintained consistently in surrounding states and as far north and east as Canada and New England. The test was made at the behest of the national amateur radio organization, the American Radio Relay league, which requested that field parties in various portions of the nation operate under complete emergency conditions to determine the ability of the various associates to cope with a national calamity.

Amateur radio operators from Hollis Ridge and Ruston, La., cooperated to make the venture a complete success. The following were the amateurs who stood watch during this period: James D. Gaar, W5FVD; Carlton H. McCoy, W5DXL; W. E. Owen, W5WG; Allen J. Christmas, W5DRF; Mrs. C. W. Caraway, W5FJW; W. B. Mack, Jr., W5BDF; and Pat Leach, W5EGK, under whose call the station was operated.

TAX ASSESSOR'S SON FOUND DEAD

Henry Cason Said To Have Swallowed Fatal Poison At Tallulah

TALLULAH, La., June 26.—(Special)—Henry Cason, 27-year-old son of Tax Assessor J. L. Cason of East Carroll parish, was found dead at a local clinic Friday night.

The young man was said to have previously telephoned from his father's offices to T. Ed Williams, local undertaker, whose suspicions were declared aroused by Cason's conversation.

Mr. Williams accompanied by Sheriff A. J. Sevier and the youth's father immediately made a search of the courthouse building but failed to find young Cason.

Later information was said to have revealed that Cason went to a nearby drug store where he allegedly purchased and drank a potion of poison. Hethen was said to have walked to the clinic where he expired in the driveway. The tragedy was declared caused by despondency.

Young Cason, who was employed in his father's office, is survived by his parents; one brother, J. A. Cason, and three sisters, Mrs. Douglas Forster, Mrs. Albert Sherwin and Miss Carolyn Cason.

Funeral services will be held from here this afternoon with Rev. C. K. Smith, of the Methodist church officiating.

Woman's Rights

"A woman has just as much right to get drunk as a man," argued a modern girl the other day, discussing a practice that is more or less prevalent today.

But has she? It is admitted that no person has a right to do that which is harmful to himself—and it is further admitted that getting drunk is harmful to the person indulging in the practice, and perhaps to others.

But does not the degree of harm caused by a wrong deed enter into the calculations?

For instance, not long ago a man in a not distant town went to a neighbor's house and rang the bell. When the neighbor opened the door the man fired a shot straight at the neighbor's stomach. A belt buckle deflected the bullet, so the neighbor, instead of dying from an agonizing wound, suffered only a bruise on the interior of his abdomen. The court fined the assailant two hundred and fifty dollars—a light punishment for such a deed, but given because, through circumstances, the damage was not great.

Gambling is admitted to be injurious—so much so that it is unlawful. But suppose a man takes all his wages at the end of the week and gambles them away, leaving his family without the necessities of life; and suppose another man worth a million dollars loses in a game of chance the same sum the wage-earner lost, but without any harm to his dependents. Which of the two has done the more damage by doing exactly the same thing?

But what has that to do with the difference between men and women in the matter of getting drunk? Simply this:

When a transgression hurts one person more than another, it is more serious to the one than the other. Is that admitted?

Well, women are more harmed by intoxicants than men, for, being more sensitively organized, she cannot debauch herself without being more injured than a man.

The coarser the spiritual fiber the more abuse it can stand. A savage can do, without moral injury to himself, that which would devastate a civilized person. A brutish gangster can do, without harm to his feelings, that which would wreck a refined man.

A man can do things without serious impairment to himself which done by a decent woman would pull her down to a level from which she might not rise. The higher one rises, the harder he falls—if he does fall.

There is nothing so low as a low woman. She goes to depths below those of a low man—just as a high-minded woman rises to higher attainments than are possible to a man.

Another thing: As long as the women of a nation remain upright and clean, the nation cannot be lost. But let the women of a nation go to the bad and the nation is gone. By means of her spiritual strength woman helps to keep man up spiritually and helps to bring him back if he goes down; but let woman go down and man is apt to go down also—and stay down. If you had to choose between a drunken mother and a drunken father what would you say about a woman's right to get drunk?

LOOKING TO THE EAST

Herr Hitler in the story of his life, his struggles and his political ideals, makes quite clear his own theory as to the direction in which Germany's destiny lies. When the time comes for Germany to expand, to seek new soil for its growing population and to reestablish its old status as one of the dominant nations of Europe, he says, she must look to the east—to Russia, which holds all that Germany desires in the way of natural resources. Many times since that book was written this same thought has been expressed by Chancellor Hitler, who makes little effort to conceal the covetousness with which he views the Urals and the rich fields and the industries of the Ukraine.

It is not surprising, under the circumstances, that Germany should be charged by Moscow with the corruption of the eight generals who have been executed for treason to Russia. With his own words, which have expressed unequivocally his designs upon Russia's territory and natural resources, Hitler has invited not only suspicion but the open charge of conspiracy.

If the charge is justified and if Chancellor Hitler has been preparing the way for a swift and desperate drive toward the East, the denouement of his scheme will prove alike disheartening and enlightening. It proves that Stalin still is top dog in Russia, that he has the situation well in hand and that any effort to wrest desirable provinces from him is certain to be attended by a great deal of bloodshed and, perhaps, by defeat.

The army saddle has been improved for the first time in eighty years, but as yet there is nothing resembling knee action to take the bumps out of a good rough trot.

The average long-termer is uncertain as to which he would prefer—a saw and a rope ladder or the tender mercies of the parole board.

A land of opportunity is one where a man is called great while his old neighbors wonder how he gets by.

RHYME AND REASON

By ANNE CAMPBELL

IF THIS WERE OUR LAST SUMMER

If this were our last summer, I would be
Striving to please in large and little ways.
There would be no task great enough for me
To prove to you that your love fills my days.

If this were our last summer, and I knew
With every moment that was slipping by,
Our days together were so very few,
There would be no one half so kind as I.

If this were our last summer, I would cease
To scold you and complain, and you would know—
Seeing me walk in such strange ways of peace—
That there was something wrong, and tell me so!

INDUSTRY TALKS

Prepared by the Bureau of Research and Education, Advertising Federation of America

No. 1 AMERICAN BUSINESS

We all have our stake in business. There may be a hermit, living in a cave somewhere, who gets along without a knife, or cooking pot, or matches, or any other products of civilization. But aside from him, there is scarcely anyone in this country whose welfare does not depend directly upon the processes of business. No matter where you get your income, every dollar of it was produced by some form of industry.

Economic prosperity exists when business functions smoothly and efficiently. Through all its ups and downs of the past 150 years, the American industrial system has achieved marvelous results. Each generation sees greater progress than the last. The living conditions of American workers are now far higher than anywhere else in the world, and are ascending more rapidly than ever before. In many ways, the average farmer or factory worker is better off today than were the aristocrats of only a century ago. His wages will buy twice the comforts his parents enjoyed, and his working hours are shorter.

Yet, if a visitor from Mars had listened to some of our recent political debates, he might have concluded that our economic system has failed, and that business as now conducted is an obstacle to social progress. That is the tenor of many arguments we hear nowadays. It is time that the people give careful thought to these matters and critically examine every proposal that would restrain business initiative and possibly cripple the forces of industrial progress.

Every substantial advance that was ever made in industry came through individual initiative and the desire for personal achievement. All the material riches of the world and all the inventive brains of mankind would have failed to bring the material progress of the past century in America, were it not for the driving spirit of private enterprise. Such progress is possible only in a free country where the poorest boy can rise to fame and riches by building an industry to benefit millions besides himself.

This is a land of competition. American industry was virtually built by competitive effort. When competition is stifled, progress is dead. One of the cardinal principles of our industrial system is private competition. Better products, higher wages, and lower prices are all fruits of healthy business competition.

Never before, in all the history of the world, have the benefits of scientific discovery and invention been given to the public as fast as now. Under the pressure of unhampered competition, every industry strives to give more and better products to its customers. Through the medium of advertising, business keeps the public informed of industry's progress and stimulates wider distribution of its products.

Thus are created economic prosperity and wider spread of wealth. Living standards and social welfare depend directly upon the success of business and industry in attaining their objectives.

The American system of private enterprise is responsible for what we have accomplished in the past, and that past is but a threshold to what lies ahead.

A BOOK REVIEW

HOW A FEMALE LIVES IN LAND OF HOBOES

A box car, you might say, is no place for a woman, and neither is the cindery, jolting "blind baggage" of a passenger train. And yet women are riding these unorthodox conveyances every day, and the female hobo is as regularly established an inhabitant of the world of vagrancy as is the male.

All of this I gather from "Sister of the Road," which is presented as "the autobiography of Box-Car Bertha, as told to Dr. Ben L. Reitman.

Dr. Reitman has done a good job of "ghosting." The book is presented as the authentic reminiscences of a real person, and I see no reason to doubt it. Anyway, it makes an interesting story—even if it is not at all the sort of book to leave around where your Aunt Emma might find it.

The female hobo, according to Box-Car Bertha, gets along just about as the man does. Like the man, she may be one of several types—itinerant worker, jobless job-hunter, restless ne'er-do-well, or just plain bum. She has no trouble getting decent treatment from the male hoboes, if she shows that that is the kind of treatment she wants. Lately she has taken to hitchhiking instead of riding the rods; it's easier, for a woman. If she has a baby with her, it's a lead-pipe cinch.

Box-Car Bertha had her ups and downs, and some of the downs were pretty far down. She tells about them with utter frankness, and her book is not for the squeamish. In its own way, though, it is a valuable sidelight on a strange and interesting segment of the population.

SO THEY SAY

Explorers have a natural tendency to exaggerate the dangers of the African veldt. But as a matter of fact, it is safer in Africa than on Fifth avenue.—H. B. Pearson, Los Angeles, returning from an exploration trip in Africa.

A COUPLE OF INTERESTED LISTENERS

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

Minor musing of a misanthrope:

I have never known a successful writer who did not have to search for a pencil when in sudden need. Even at his desk. Plumbers arriving without their tools are in a vast minority when compared to the pencilless writer. Indeed, writing is the most carelessly handled of professions. With minor exceptions, no writer has kept a respectable file. Katharine Brush is an exception.

And—

Scott: Few restaurant waiter captains or even proprietors have learned that patrons do not want food suggestions unless especially asked for. One of the lesser joys of dining out is studying the menu selecting this dish and that. To be prodded into taking some especial item, no matter how worthy it may be, often entirely spoils what might be a pleasant gastronomical experience. Diners want to be let alone.

And—

The American Mercury Editor, Paul Palmer, writes me that after reading my enthusiasm for J. L. Hardy's mystery story, "Everything is Thunder," he decided immediately to include it in their 25-cent editions of readable books. A good selection. To my mind, no story in years has moved at such a breathlessly exciting pace.

And—

Harry Burton has an amazing young man who is his assistant in editing the Cosmopolitan. He is B. J. Hawley. Over a period of five years I have never known him to lack in tact, to avoid answering a question directly, or to fail to carry out to the letter and to the minute something he had promised to do. As we grow older, somehow, we find that dependability is about the greatest asset those with whom we have contact may have. Gladstone once said: "Give me a dependable man and I'll show you not only an honest but intelligent worker."

And—

Some one sends in this silly: "I had 12 bottles of whisky in my cellar and my wife told me to empty the contents of each down the sink or else. I said I would and proceeded with the unpleasant task. I withdrew the cork from the first bottle and poured the contents down the sink with the exception of one glass, which I drank.

"I extracted the cork from the second bottle and did likewise with the exception of one glass which I drank. I then withdrew the cork from the third bottle, emptying the good old booze down the sink save for one drink which I drank. I pulled the bottle from the cork of the next one, drank one sink out of it, and poured the rest down the glass.

"Pulled the sink from the next glass and poured the cork down the bottle. I pulled the next cork out of my throat, poured the sink down the glass, bottled the drink and drank the pour. When I had emptied everything I steadied the house with one hand and counted the bottles and corks and glasses with the other, which were 29. To make sure I counted again when they came by and I had 74, and as the house came by I counted again and finally I had all the houses and bottles and corks and glasses counted except one bottle, which I drank."

It is about time they gave Dizzy Dean his marbles, hustled him out the back gate, and sent him on his way. The youth of America makes idols of ball players and Dean is a sorry model. A good enough pitcher at times, he is erratic and certainly not expert enough to indulge the outlandish tantrums of a spoiled brat. His brand of sportsmanship is poor. When losing to worthier teams, he tries to beam opposing players, which is a snide procedure. In his physical clashes he usually either gets the worst of it or beats retreat.

The most frequently delayed play of the season was one called "Driftwood," which when it started drifting, made it hum. I counted seven postponements and lost interest. One of the most amusing reasons for not getting started was the inability to get a dingus to imitate an owl's hoot.

Now and then the drama misses the old Belasco touch. There were several auspicious efforts this season that just didn't come off because of the lack of expert showmanship. Belasco more than any other of his time had a way of "pointing up" some simple little scene that made it stand out as terrific. I think especially of that touch to The Girl of the Golden West when the drops of blood dropped from the rafters on the hand of the man-hunter, just as he had decided to abandon the hunt.

Red light ahead: From small communities and towns over the land come an increasing avalanche of letters about the inability to hire unskilled labor. People everywhere have to build their own fences, chicken houses, mow their lawns, etc. Ordinary house painting, too, has no more practitioners. Unskilled laborers, the plaints are, have found they can get along on relief without work and, of course, to take any sort of an odd job may stop their relief. This collectively is a road that can easily lead to national disaster.

Kismet: Bobby Leach, the first man who went over Niagara Falls on purpose in a steel barrel in 1911, slipped on a banana peel in Christchurch, New Zealand, while on a tour in 1926, injured his leg and died from the necessary operation. Bert Leston Taylor wrote about an African explorer who survived unimaginable perils, only to come home, be knocked down by a banana wagon, and die. And there was the famous mountain climber who broke his leg from a fall as he was walking up the steps of a lecture platform.

YOUR HEALTH

By Dr. Morris Fishbein

(Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine)

The person who is overweight may not at first feel very much disturbed because of his condition. Later, however, he begins to feel the burden of the excess fat.

Simply because of his overweight, exertion will cause shortness of breath and he will tire easily. His feet will feel the strain of carrying the excess weight and sometimes he will have pains in his knee joints and hip joints, simply because of the weight factor.

It is definitely established that a person with heart disease does not do well if he gains too much weight and that a person with a disturbance of the liver, the kidneys or any of the other vital organs of the body has another hazard in the overweight.

Overweight is a distinct hazard to a person with a tendency to diabetes and a menace to the life of any one with hardening of the arteries or high blood pressure.

Some Scotch investigators have emphasized particularly the fact that long continued overweight may be associated with disturbance of circulation of the blood, disturbances of breathing and disturbances of the ability of the person to get about.

The association of overweight with gallstones is well known, and there has come to be a proverb among the medical profession which asserts that the typical case of gallstones is a woman who is fair, fat and forty.

An eminent American authority on diabetes has pointed out that 10 to 15 per cent of people with this disease are known to have been overweight previous to the onset of the disease.

In the records of 30 American insurance companies, covering 744,672 policy holders, it was found that among those who were less than 10 pounds overweight, there was no increase in mortality rate, but that above that figure the mortality rate rose steadily and alarmingly.

One American insurance company which analyzed the cause of death of 26,000 policy holders found that heart disease accounted for the deaths of 15 1-2 per cent of those who were overweight, compared with only 6 per cent of the lean.

Other diseases of the circulation caused 7 1-2 per cent of deaths in those who were overweight, as against 3 per cent in the lean.

Nearly twice as many people who are overweight die of kidney disease as those who are underweight.

STAMP NEWS

By I. S. Klein

A THIRD new stamp has been announced by Postmaster General Farley, this one to precede the other two. It will be a 3-cent commemorative, to be issued on July 13, in connection with the 150th anniversary of adoption of the Ordinance of 1787 and establishing of the Northwest Territory.

The Ordinance of 1787 provided a government for the territory northwest of the Ohio river.

Choice of the city or cities where the new stamps will be sold on the first day of issue, and where first day covers may be mailed, will be announced later.

The other two planned stamp issues are the Virginia Dare stamp, for August 18, and the special souvenir sheet to be released on Aug. 26 at Asheville, N. C., in connection with the convention of the Society of Philatelic Americans.

A beautiful pictorial series of stamps has been issued by Guatemala in honor of President Jorge Ubico. There are 12 values for regular postage, 10 for interior airmail and 12 for exterior airmail. The two highest values of the regular stamps bear portraits of General Ubico. Others show scenes in Guatemala.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

By Rodney Dutcher

WASHINGTON—The desire of some labor leaders to collect everything possible in the way of union dues appears alongside the unwillingness of many manufacturers to pay higher wages as a factor in the opposition to the Black-Connery wage and hour bill.

The most contentious point in the bill is its section five, which would give the proposed labor standards board power to fix a "minimum fair wage" in individual industries up to the equivalent of $1,200 a year.

It is probable that the blank spaces in previous sections will be filled in so as to fix a general minimum wage and hour standard of 40 cents an hour and 40 hours a week, which would be the equivalent of $800 a year or $16 a week for anyone who had 50 weeks of employment.

The theory behind the measure is that there is no collective bargaining worth talking about for the wage group which earns less than $800 a year, and that many workers in the range between $800 and $1200 have no money with which to organize and bargain collectively. Thus, after the bill previously has authorized the board to vary its non-oppressive standards upward or downward, section five authorizes the board to establish a minimum fair wage in cases where facilities for collective bargaining are inadequate or ineffective, and where lower wages paid by some employers threaten to undermine the labor standards of other employers. But there are labor leaders who foresee that many unskilled workers will feel less incentive to join unions if and when the government fixes wages for them at between $16 and $25 a week.

So, they shy away from it. On the other hand there are labor leaders who say that the head of a family who makes less than $25 a week is unlikely to have enough food in his stomach to make good fighting union material.

Headache For Hull

The bills introduced by Senator Hugo Black and Congressman Wm. H. Connery are almost identical—but not quite.

Connery made a slight excision which has given another severe headache to Secretray of State Cordell Hull, who every other week has to worry about some new direct or indirect attack on his trade treaties.

The original bill, as in the Black bill, legally defined the goods affected as those "produced, manufactured, mined, handled, or in any other manner worked on in any state." Connery cut out the words "in any state."

And that means, according to the lawyers, that the Connery bill would prevent importation into the United States of foreign goods produced under lower labor standards than those set up by the board. What this would do to American import trade and to those Hull trade treaties would be more than plenty.

Repercussion From England

The administration's definite movements toward rebuilding the American Merchant Marine are also getting in Hull's hair.

When Roosevelt asked congress for $16,000,000 the other day for construction of new ships under supervision of the Maritime commission, repercussions from England began to reach Washington at once.

Word was emphatically conveyed that the British didn't want to lose any of their profitable ocean-carrying trade and that the proposed American ship building program seriously threatened current preliminary negotiations for a reciprocal tariff treaty between this country and Britain.

But it appears Hull will have to worry along on that one as best he can. Roosevelt and Chairman Joe Kennedy of the Maritime commission are determined to build ships.

Will Have Five Men Now

Those who saw the Black-Connery bill in its final mimeographed form before introduction noticed that a last-minute penciling had changed the Labor Standards board from a previously contemplated three-member commission to a five-man group. Explanation turns out to be that it's a new administration policy to have five-member commissions in the future and no more trios.

This proposal was adopted from a confidential document known as the "Draper report," which was a study of the management of TVA supervised by Assistant Secretary of Commerce Ernst Draper. The report says that three-man commissions always tended to line up two members against one, which was the way it happened when Director Arthur Morgan of TVA, split with Directors David Lilienthal and Harlcourt Morgan, whereas there was a better chance of less trouble and more cohesive action among a quintet.

There has never not come to the rescue of the parish.

During the 1927 flood, she stated, due to the efforts of the local chairman, the parish was well cared for. She said that in other high waters since then that the Red Cross has always done its share.

She urges all parish people to join the Red Cross when the roll call is held in the parish soon. If the roll call is a success the parish will reestablish parish Red Cross headquarters. Miss Falkenheiner is now working without pay as the parish chapter executive secretary. She recently attended a training school which was held in Pass Christian, Miss.

Keeping Cool by Scientific Methods

Beat the Heat with Air Conditioning

Modern Air Conditioning Proves One Of Newest Miracles Of Science

PRESENT COOLING SYSTEMS AFFORD GREAT COMFORT

Methods Of Eliminating Woes Of Hot Summer Are Highly Effective

Mark Twain, that inimitable American humorist of the last century, would have been hopelessly out-of-date were he alive at the present time. Out-of-date, at least, insofar as his attitude toward the weather was concerned. Mark Twain's immortal saying that "everybody talks about the weather but nobody does anything about it," no longer holds good, for science has taken a hand in regulating the weather. It is true that science cannot control outside temperatures. But what science has done to control temperatures inside homes and business establishments is nobody's business, or rather, it is everybody's business.

Air conditioning is the newest miracle of science; the newest step in the progress of our modern civilization which has knocked Mark Twain's famous "bon mot" for a loop. It is the fastest selling idea in the business field today and rivals the development of the radio in its particular field.

From great buildings like the United States capitol and gigantic ocean liners like the Queen Mary and the Normandie, to gold mines 8500 feet below the earth's surface and to offices and homes, the scientific miracle of air conditioning delivers cool, clean, dehumidified air quietly and effcient-ly to millions in every part of the globe.

Business establishments throughout the country have gone for air conditioning "in a big way." Business executives realize the importance of providing comfortable working and shopping conditions in their factories, stores and offices. They realize that the public now demands and expects comfort while shopping or transacting business.

The following are a few of the reasons advanced by a famous industrialist who recently installed air conditioning in one of the largest department stores in the world:

Air conditioning holds present customers and attracts now ones.

It encourages patrons to shop more leisurely, spend more time in the inviting atmosphere; the longer they linger the more they buy, thus increasing sales.

The business establishment equipped with air conditioning automatically advertises itself as being progressive.

Air conditioning conserves energy and increases the efficiency of sales people and office employes; it reduces absentees and turnover.

Air conditioning keeps merchandise fresher, cleaner, more salable, reduces soilage and handling losses, protects perishables and reduces markdowns.

A merchant who installs air conditioning in his place of business wins the public good will. It enables him to feature sales to increase summer volume.

A store located in a less favorable section may overcome this handicap by air conditioning since it attracts shoppers to comfortable shopping facilities.

Air conditioning reduces cleaning and decorating costs by filtering incoming air and increasing lighting efficiency.

Air conditioning makes the store so equipped, a regular "summer resort," the most comfortable place in town.

Ideal air conditioning is not designed to maintain sensationally low or high temperatures that bring about physical shock, but to positively control humidity and ventilation by the distribution of cleaned, washed and filtered air with temperatures set according to outside conditions and individually controlled in every room.

An example of ideal air conditioning for both summer and winter is the Medical Arts building in Dallas, Tex., where during summer operation 27,000,000 cubic feet or over 2,000,000 pounds of outside air is brought into the building during a 10-hour day. This air has 1,630 gallons of moisture removed under maximum humidity conditions, thoroughly filtered of dirt, pollen, and bacteria and circulated without drafts. For winter operation the same procedure as for summer is followed except that the air is tempered and the proper amount of moisture added when necessary.

In other institutions and business establishments equipped with properly designed and operated air conditioning systems improved health conditions have been phenomenal. For example, in a large institution in Los Angeles the occupants were able to cut their annual health insurance 46 per cent due to a corresponding decrease in illness. This is just one of the many cases on record where improvement has been made in the health and efficiency record of occupants of buildings where atmospheric conditions have been properly controlled.

Experts define air conditioning as the treatment of air to make it more suitable for some particular application. Air conditioning does not necessarily mean cold temperatures inside a building; engineers rather stress the fact that it is their objective to assure healthful and comfortable conditions in buildings so equipped.

Like the automobile, air conditioning is fast becoming a public necessity. Five years ago only the most progressive executives and merchants considered the value of air conditioning. Soon afterwards the railroads adopted it and traveling records clearly indicated that the lines which equipped their cars with air conditioning did a great deal more business than those who failed to so equip their cars.

At the present time manufacturers have entered the field offering individual air conditioning units suitable for equipping one or more rooms. There are many systems on the market, all based, however, on the same scientific principle. The choice of the system rests with the person who contemplates its installation. Portable air conditioning units may now be had. In fact, business men in general are agreed that within a comparatively short time the public will patronize to a greater extent those places of business which offer the comfortable conditions during summer and winter which are induced by air conditioning.

RUTH SHOPS ARE AIR CONDITIONED

Comfortable shopping conditions at Ruth Shops, Inc., 141 DeSiard street, have been a feature of this ladies' ready-to-wear store since the modern Delco-Frigidaire air conditioning system was installed in 1935.

"We feel that our customers are entitled to the best, not only in merchandise, but in real shopping comfort," I. W. Jaffe, manager of Ruth Shops, Inc., declared. "Air conditioning is a boon to the staff and the healthful conditions provided by air conditioning result in greater efficiency on the part of our sales people and helps us to do more business. We consider this improvement as an essential factor in the success of Ruth Shops, Inc., in Monroe."

Because of its increasing volume of business in its fur department, Ruth Shops, Inc., recently engaged C. Hanover, fur expert, who is in charge of the new fur repair and remodeling department. Mr. Hanover came to Monroe from Dallas, Tex., and learned the fur business in Europe.

His department is equipped to repair remodel and clean all kinds of fur garments, and the public is invited to consult Mr. Hanover on problems pertaining to this class of merchandise.

LOCAL SHOE STORE IS AIR CONDITIONED

Equipped with Chrysler Airtemp, the latest development in the air-conditioning field, Holloway and Thompson's shoe store, located at 203 DeSiard street, assures its clients real summer shopping comfort by maintaining its premises from 12 to 15 degrees cooler than the street temperature.

"We never realized the need for air conditioning until we actually installed our system, and then we wondered how we ever got along without it," G. L. Holloway, of the Holloway and Thompson store, declared. "We selected Chryslem Airtemp because we felt it was the best in its field, and since the system was installed last April we have received numerous compliments from our clients who really appreciate comfortable shopping conditions. These expressions from our friends more than repay us for the additional expense involved in equipping our store with air conditioning" Mr. Holloway declared.

At the same time that the Chrysler Airtemp air-conditioning system was installed, the premises of Holloway and Thompson were completely remodelled and the store now ranks among the finest of its kind in this section of the state.

PARAMOUNT PATRONS LIKE AIR CONDITIONING

Every seat is a coll retreat at the Paramount theater since the installation of the air conditioning system several weeks ago. Manager Joe Gordon deserves the credit for persuading his company to equip the Paramount theater with the latest Westinghouse air conditioning system.

Mr. Gordon stated that the principle of the system installed at the Paramount is based on providing healthful and comfortable inside temperatures and everything is done to guard against an excessively low inside temperature which would cause harmful results from the shock experienced by patrons who enter the the theater from the hot street. An example of the manner in which the Westinghouse air conditioning system works is cited by Mr. Gordon who pointed out that when it is 100 degrees on the outside, the Paramount theater's inside temperature is around 80 degrees.

AIR CONDITIONING AT FINK THE TAILOR

"It's easier to sell a customer in a comfortable, air-conditioned shop than in one where the temperature is hot and stuffy," Herbert Fink, of Fink the Tailor, Inc., located at 324 DeSiard street, declared, discussing air conditioning at his store, which was installed about two months ago.

"Modern business recognizes that customers demand comfort when they shop," Mr. Fink said. "Since installing our modern Westinghouse system we notice that it is easier to sell our clients than before we were so equipped. Not only is it easier to sell merchandise, but we sell more merchandise, as the cool atmosphere of our store tends to create a better frame of mind in the purchaser."

Customers shopping at Fink the Tailor's linger in the store, where they enoy the invigorating atmosphere created by the Westinghouse air conditioning unit which not only affords comfortable temperatures in the store, but permits employes in the shop where garments are made, to work in greater comfort and with more efficiency.

PRIMOS INSTALLS AIR CONDITIONING

With the installation of the new Westinghouse air conditioning unit, Primos' restaurant and cafeteria at the corner of North Fourth and DeSiard streets, "makes its own weather" and assures comfortably cool temperatures throughout the summer for its clients.

The air conditioning plant installed at the Primos restaurant and cafeteria is the largest unit in any Monroe restaurant and is the latest type Westinghouse hermetically sealed condensing unit equipped with an evaporative condenser. The compressor motor and head is gas cooled. The entire unit provides for a proper balance between humidity and temperatures and uses the latest principles of air conditioning.

NEW PUBLIC HEALTH NURSE INTRODUCED

Miss Pauline P'Pool, graduate nurse, who has been recently engaged by the Ouachita parish chapter of the Red Cross as public health nurse, was introduced to the members of the Ouachita parish chapter of the Red Cross at their monthly meeting held Friday at 4 p.m.

She explained the nature of her work and the program planned here which now only awaits the completion of minor details, after which she will be able to start her duties, Mrs. W. C. Holstein, executive secretary, stated.

Miss P'Pool will instruct in hygiene and care of the sick throughout this parish and will do bedside nursing in Monroe and West Monroe only.

The nurse comes to Monroe from Tennessee and is a graduate of Vanderbilt university in Nashville. She has had practical nursing experience in Kentucky.

Accidents cost the United States a total of $2,630,000,000 in wage loss and medical expense, $830,000,000 for property damage and $290,000,000 for fire loss, during 1936.

Our customers are enabled to select their purchases without the discomfort of excessive heat. This works both ways; it favors the client and it also favors the store. FRANCES GRILL, BAR HAS AIR CONDITIONING

By Ed Apperson

The construction of the Frances hotel brought to north Louisiana the finest institution of its kind. It was only natural, in keeping with its reputation for excellence, that the Frances hotel should be the first hotel in Monroe to install air conditioning.

Its decision to provide this modern touch was prompted by the desire to assure to the guests of the Frances hotel as well as to all in Monroe who care to visit the hotel, the healthful comfort which this modern scientific improvement now provides.

We are happy to offer the facilities of our air-conditioned grill and bar to the many friends who visit there daily. The surcease from the heat of the street which the cool comfort of the Frances hotel grill and bar affords, is one of the many refinements of life which the hotel is proud to dispense, not only to its traveling guests, but to its numerous friends of this city.

FIELD'S PIONEERS IN AIR CONDITIONING

Fields, Inc., ladies' ready-to-wear store at 218 DeSiard street, is the pioneer of air conditioning in Monroe, having installed the system in its store four years ago.

Equipped with Frigidaire's air-conditioning unit, Field's Inc., provides a healthful room temperature of 78 degrees and assures all clients real shopping comfort.

"We are proud to have been the first store in Monroe to be equipped with air conditioning," Abe Blumenthal, manager of Field's, Inc., stated. "When we decided to install this system we knew that it was essential to the progress of our business. We saw the handwriting on the wall, and recognized that the general public would demand the right to to do their shopping in comfort during the hot weather. Our air-conditioning system meets the public's needs. It is a pleasure to shop at Field's," Mr. Blumenthal concluded.

TECH MAKES PLANS FOR FALL SESSION

RUSTON, La., June 26.—(Special)—Freshman registration for the fall semester at Louisiana Tech will be held on Monday, September 13, according to the college calendar for the 1937-38 session just arranged by President E. S. Richardson.

All first-semester freshmen will be required to be present at 9 a.m. on the opening day, the regulations specify. The following day, Tuesday, September 14 has been designated as "Freshman Day," during which several entertainments will be given for the beginning students.

Upper classmen will register on Wednesday, September 15, and the first classes of the new semester will meet the next day.

Although the calendar lists only Thursday, November 25, as a holiday for the Thanksgiving week-end, a full two weeks of vacation is scheduled for Christmas time. The latter recess will begin at noon on Saturday, December 18, and continue until 8 a.m. Monday, January 3.

The first semester will end on January 29 and the second semester will begin on January 31.

Easter vacation will be observed from noon April 14 to 8 a.m. April 18, according to the calendar. The college year will end on June 4.

PROPERTY SOLD FOR DELINQUENT TAXES

A total of 128 pieces of property were adjudicated to the state for nonpayment of 1936 taxes and 91 pieces were bought by individuals at the annual tax sale held at the Ouachita parish courthouse Saturday morning, according to a report of Chief Deputy C. D. Meredith, who conducted the sale.

Mr. Meredith stated that this year's list of property sold for unpaid taxes was half that of last year and that taxes which had not been paid were all in small amounts, the largest item being for $188.

Property owners have three years in which to redeem property sold at the tax sale Saturday but must pay five per cent penalty and one per cent per month until redeemed.

DECORATIONS FOR LEGION PLANNED

St. Louis Firm Employed To Dress Up City For Convention July 10

James L. Russell, president of the J. L. Russell Decorating company, St. Louis, Mo., Saturday announced that a crew fully equipped with all materials will arrive in Monroe soon to start the work of decorating the business section and the convention halls for the 19th annual state convention of the Louisiana department of the American Legion to be held in Monroe July 10-13.

Mr. Russell's firm was awarded the contract for the convention decorations and he is now in the city. He plans to bring the highest type of decorations here and merchants are urged to cooperate with him so as to assure that Monroe will be gaily festooned and decorated in honor of visiting legionnaires attending the convention next month.

Headquarters for the decorating company have been established at the Stefan building, 108 St. John street, and merchants and others are invited to inspect the many features used for decorative purposes and which will be on display there.

Mr. Russell stated that the proposed decorations for the convention are similar to those used during the national American Legion conventions held in 1935 at St. Louis, Mo.; in 1936 at Cleveland, O.; and to be used in New York City for this year's national session in September.

The convention halls here will be draped in blue and gold silk rayon with the American Legion emblems. Artistic designs never before attempted in cities where state department sessions have been held, will be featured by the J. L. Russell Decorating company. All the emblems of the American Legion, Forty and Eight and Auxiliary are available, as well as American and Legion colors.

Mr. Russell announced that the principal street decorations will consist of two 5-by-13 feet American Legion panel drapes and two, 4-by-6 foot American Legion and Auxiliary colors. A profusion of bunting, panels, emblems and flags will be brought to Monroe from St. Louis to be used in the decorating scheme. All the principal buildings in the city as well as parish and municipal edifices will be decorated for the occasion.

In view of the fact that the convention gets underway in less than two weeks, merchants in the city are urged to get in touch with the J. L. Russell Decorating company, at the Stefan building, to arrange for decorating their premises for the convention.

The J. L. Russell Decorating company is the only firm employed in connection with convention decorations, Bill Perhamus, general chairman of the convention committee in charge of arrangements, announced.

CITIZENS MEET IN SOUTH SIDE FRIDAY

A mass meeting was held at Lida Benton school, Friday night, to consider action to be taken in connection with damage to paint and other property in the south end of the city caused by an unusual and mysterious atmospheric condition. The meeting ended with the naming of a special committee to determine later action to be taken.

Members of this committee are F. J. Cox, 4202 South Grand street; J. D. Stewart, 4310 South Grand street; Harry Stein, 3405 Gordon avenue; F. L. Jones, 4306 South Grand street; and U. W. Pickens, 4206 South Grand street.

The meeting was presided over by Mr. Pickens as temporary chairman and who was later voted in as permanent chairman.

The meeting was attended by approximately 500 representative residents of the south end of the city, and also included a number of city and parish officials. Pending a later report of special chemists who will endeavor to locate the source which is the cause of damage sustained to property, there was no public discussion of the situation, aside from a short talk by Mr. Jones in which he mentioned the damages being sustained. He further suggested that the newspapers, city hall and other sources should not be further embarrassed with needless telephone calls by property owners reporting damage done.

MONEY SOUGHT TO IMPROVE CEMETERY

Mrs. Jettie Breathwit, 212 North Second street, secretary of the Antioch Cemetery association, is asking that all who have pledged or desire to pledge money for the improvement of the property do so by July 10. She is desirous of having a metal fence constructed around the cemetery property which is slightly less than five acres in extent and in which are buried many of the prominent pioneer citizens of Ouachita parish. It is located 16 miles from Monroe on the lower Jonesboro road.

The cost of the new fence and other improvements will be $500 to $600, Mrs. Breathwit estimates, and she is desirous of having the work done during the month of August.

Money can be mailed to her as secretary of the cemetery association.

ROTARY BARBECUE JULY 8

The Monroe Rotary club's annual barbecue will be held at Bernstein place Thursday night, July 8, not next Thursday night, as had been erroneously stated in a report of the Rotary meeting published a few days ago. Members of the club and their wives will attend the outdoor gathering, which is a feature of Rotary activities each summer. A large attendance is expected. The regular meeting of the club will be held next Thursday noon on the Virginia hotel roof garden as usual.

There are 916 miles of railways in Connecticut.

HONOR SCRIBE

John Walters (above), of Ruston, is this year's winner of the journalism medal given annually to the student adjudged to have done the best work on the staff of the Tech Talk, Louisiana Tech newspaper. The medal, designed in the shape of a linotype matrix, is awarded by the Omega Kappa social fraternity at Tech. Walters was a reporter on the Tech paper the past year and will be sports editor of the publication at the beginning of the fall semester in September.

HEADWORK SAVES FEES FOR GRADS

Six Complete Four Year Course Without Paying Tuition

RUSTON, La., June 26.—(Special)—"Using their heads" to financial advantage, six of the recent graduates of Louisiana Tech came through their four years of college on scholarships without paying a cent for registration or laboratory fees, according to a check of the records just made by Mrs. Fairy C. McBride, secretary to President E. S. Richardson.

The six distinguished graduates are R. A. Chandler, Ida; Sara Ellen Cooper, Mansfield; Maxwell Glenn, Winnfield; Jack Pullig, Gibsland; Carrie Mae Stephenson, Ruston, and Mildred Stewart, Summerfield.

In 1933, these six students entered Louisiana Tech as honor graduates of their high schools and were given scholarships granting exemption from the payments of registration and laboratory fees. In that year, announcement was made for the first time that the annual scholarships would be extended through the sophomore, junior and senior years to students maintaining a B average. The six members of the 1937 class, accordingly, are the first to whom the awards were in effect for four years.

Five of the six graduates were accorded special honors at the June commencement exercises here. Pullig and Miss Stephenson were graduated with magna cum laude distinction, having averages of 2.6 for their four years. Cum laude honors, signifying averages of 2.2, were bestowed upon Chandler, Miss Stewart and Miss Cooper.

The scholarships under which these students were exempt from paying fees are granted annually to the student in the upper one-fourth of the graduating class of each state-approved high school in Louisiana. At present, 134 have been awarded for the 1937-38 session at Tech, Mrs. McBride announced. The scholarships will continue to be awarded until the fall semester opens in September.

MRS. M'QUILLER TO GIVE PARTY

Mrs. Jewel L. McQuiller, Ouachita parish home demonstration agent, announced Saturday that the Home Demonstration council will meet at the First Methodist church annex, July 10, at 2:30 p.m. for a discussion program. The subject will be "Farm Home Ownership." Miss Mary Mims and J. W. Bateman, of the state agricultural extension department, will attend.

After the program has been given, there will be a reception held in the home of Mrs. McQuiller, 2704 South Grand street, at 5:30 p.m. All persons interested in home demonstration, even if not members of the demonstration clubs, are invited to attend.

Men are invited to the reception and Mrs. McQuiller assures that they can appear in shirt sleeves if this is preferable.

It has been suggested that each club furnished one-half gallon berry or grape juice and three dozen cookies made with a two-inch cutter. It is also asked that the clubs designate one or two members to come immediately after lunch to help with the arrangements for the reception. The clubs are also to send one 4-H club girl attired in a party dress to serve, and each club president will be in the receiving line.

FIVE ARRESTS MADE BY SHERIFF'S DEPARTMENT

We can re-read Senator Vest's tribute to the dog, and bawl all hands right out of the room. We like dogs. We own five, the last time we took a census, and one of them, Anastacia, was expecting, as we say down in Dade county.

But as far as the New York City dog is concerned, we do not believe that it is man's best friend. On the contrary, we are inclined to think that the New York City dog is many a man's worst enemy. The New York City dog is directly responsible for more pneumonia, colds-in-the-head and chilblains, than any other agency known.

Moreover, the New York City dog is responsible for much marital bickering, which perhaps sometimes leads to the divorce court. When the frost is on the pumpkin, and the streets are filled with slush, and the old ever-loving wife requests a tired husband to take Fifi out for a stroll, that is undoubtedly a moment for many high words in the apartment houses of the community.

It is the stroll with Fifi in the bitter outdoors that leads to the maladies we have mentioned. The hazards of exposure to the night air for a man red-hot from a warm, cozy room, are materially increased by the necessary lingerings attendant upon taking Fifi for a stroll.

If a fellow could move briskly along with Fifi in tow, the exercise would heat his blood, and aid him in warding off the germs. But that procedure would have Fifi dragging in his wake like a fish on a string, and lady observers would call him a brute, and perhaps summon the S. P. C. A.

It may be that the influenza, tonsilitis rheumatism and sinus trouble that is the result of taking Fifi for a stroll, is what the new society means when it speaks of dogs as disease distributors. To that extent the society may be right.

BUT WHEN the society says New York City dogs would be much happier in the country than in town, it is all wrong. We have made a profound study of this matter, and we doubt that any New York City raised dog would even consider trading its present environment for all the country you can find in Connecticut, trees, and all.

We are personally acquainted with a New York City dog that was brought up in an apartment house, and for several years of its life knew no other environment than the tall buildings, and the sidewalks, and the fire plugs of Manhattan island.

It is a Pekinese dog, with a face like a gargoyle, and a disposition as unhappy as that of a disappointed brunette which is a disposition much unhappier than that of a disappointed blonde, for reasons too numerous to mention here. This Peke sleeps all night and most of the day in a silk-lined basket, snoring louder than Jim Dougherty, the champion snorer of Delaware county, Pennsylvania, and lives on food too good for a king. It is an utterly senseless and useless beast, but of course this does not go if the owner hears it.

This Peke was once taken to the country on the theory that the green grass, and the fresh air, and the new mown hay, might make it happier. It went into convulsions when it saw some chickens, and moaned all night in fright over the song of a cricket. A baby turkey chased it two miles down a dusty road, and by the time the Peke got back to New York City it was a nervous wreck, and the dog specialist's bill for treatment had reached the tidy sum of $86 the last we heard of the matter.

DEMOCRATS

to Secretary Hull, Jefferson Island, Chesapeake bay.

Senator Robinson of Arkansas, senate floor leader, returned to the island today. Speaker Bankhead and Representative Rayburn of Texas, had spent the night there.

Jokingly, Robinson told reporters he was going to be busy with fishing paraphernalia during the "serious" conference.

Sun-burnt Democratic senators, returning from the outing, said they had talked to the president about baseball, tarpon fishing, Maryland cooking and many another pleasant subject—but not about politics.

Senator Harrison of Mississippi, chairman of the finance committee and a New Deal wheel horse, insisted that "we just had a picnic."

"Everybody knew we couldn't talk any serious business with 120 people standing around, and nobody tried," he explained.

Senator Murray of Montana said some of his colleagues "discussed local matters, such as public works and reclamation projects with the president and cabinent members," but added:

"I didn't hear a single mention of the court bill or the general legislative program."

One house member said although no legislation had been discussed with the president, the concensus among those attending the parley was that congress should be held in session until a general farm program, the supreme court and government reorganization measures had been enacted.

"There is considerable sentiment for a general farm program, including crop insurance and farm tenancy to get ready for next year," he said.

THORESON DEATH

That was the last time he saw her alive, he said.

Mrs. Thoreson's body was found at 2 a. m. Tuesday, after a railroad watchman had heard two shots and a woman's screams.

Montague, one of the taxi drivers detained, testified that Mrs. Thoreson had telephoned him from a hotel here Monday night to come for her in his cab. A porter at the hotel told him that she had driven off with an unidentified person or persons, however, he said.

The Thoresons were married in 1933 and had a son. She had been here about two weeks, visiting a sister while he looked for work.

The whistle of a locomotive can be heard one and one-half miles in the air.

GIVES UP AFTER

Ethel. Mrs. Gedeon came in and finally ordered him from the apartment, the paper continued, when he told her what he was there for.

He confessed, the paper added, that he hit her and strangled her. She put up a terrific fight, the paper quoted him saying, then, the Herald and Examiner added, Irwin said Veronica came in a short time later. He held her for nearly two hours on a bed before he killed her, and then killed Byrnes before he left.

The search for Irwin turned to Chicago today after Cleveland, O., police "definitely" identified as Irwin a youth who boarded a Chicago bound bus there.

Police here and throughout the midwest were notified by radio to be on the lookout for the long missing 29-year-old youth after Cleveland authorities said he fled from a cheap hotel room a few hours before a kitchen girl at another hotel notified them of his whereabouts.

The Herald and Examiner said Irwin told in detail how he killed each person. Quoting him, it said:

"When I went to the house there was nobody there, that is no member of the Gedeon family. Mrs. Gedeon was the first to come home. She greeted me in a friendly way and asked me to take her little dog—a Peke—for a walk. I did so. I wanted to wait until Ethel came home. I had to make excuses for waiting.

"So I asked Mrs. Gedeon to let me draw a picture of her—and I did draw the picture, working as slowly as I could. I wanted to kill time. I knew Mrs. Gedeon didn't want me to have anything to do with Ethel—and I wasn't sore about that. It was all right for her to think of me as just a bum from Greenwich Village. It's natural for a mother to be careful about her daughter.

"Finally I told her I wanted to see Ethel and wouldn't go until I had seen Ethel. She turned on me. She said I was no good. She ordered me to get out. Her voice rose to a shout. And—I hit her—hit her with all the force I had.

"She fell down, still screaming. And I was on her in a moment. I had my hands on her throat. All this time that lousy Englishman, Byrnes, was just a few feet away in his room. He could have done anything, but he didn't. He must have heard her.

"She was putting up a tremendous fight. She was making enough noise, I thought, to waken the whole block. And I kept tightening my hands on her throat. I stopped her voice that way, but she was still thrashing about on the floor, fighting. I believe I held her by the throat for at least twenty minutes before the fight went out of her and she was still and dead.

"But I hadn't done what I had come to do. I had to keep on waiting—for Ethel. She was the one I felt I must kill. Must kill, I tell you. I simply had to wait for her to finish what I had planned.

"I had an ice pick with me. The door opened, but it was not Ethel who came. It was Ronnie ("Ronnie" was the nickname of Veronica). I was glad that nobody came with Ronnie. I'm still glad about that. She had a girl friend, a nice girl. I'm glad nothing happened to that girl.

"Well, Ronnie didn't see me when she came in. She went to the bathroom. She was there a long time. I didn't intend to kill her. I just thought I would knock her out and then tie her up—and wait for Ethel.

"I made a sort of blackjack out of a piece of soap wrapped up in a cloth. I had read that this was effective—that it would stun, but nothing more.

"So when Ronnie came out I was waiting in a position from which I could strike without being seen by her. I hit her, but the soap just splattered. She was not knocked out. So I grabbed her from behind, by the neck. I was very careful not to press too hard—just hard enough so she couldn't make a noise but could breathe. I think I held her that way at least an hour.

"There were moments when the pressure was relaxed enough so that she could say a few words, not loudly. I thought she didn't know who I was. But she did. And what cost her life was that she said so. She said: 'I know it's you, Bob. Please don't—I've had an operation.'

"She knew me. I didn't know what to do. I didn't want to murder the whole neighborhood. I wanted to let Ronnie live if I could. She was beautiful. I hate to destroy beauty."

NARROWLY ESCAPES CAPTURE AT CLEVELAND

CLEVELAND, June 26.—(AP)—The girl who wouldn't have a date with a man "definitely" identified as Robert Irwin, accused triple slayer, said tonight she "felt like a nickel" because she inadvertently helped him get away.

Cleveland police, who declared they were sure the man was the 29-year-old sculptor sought for the Gedeon killings in Manhattan Easter Sunday, agreed it was "too bad."

And they said they had little idea where the suspect, who had worked since April as a barboy in a downtown hotel, had gone.

"We're working on the theory that he may be around here still," Inspector Joseph Sweeney averred. "He must have had some money with him—probably no more than $50. He could have gone almost anywhere with that. He was broke when he came to town—couldn't buy a meal for himself. But he had been working for $18 or $20 a week, and spending only a couple of dollars a week for his room.

"We didn't hear about him for four hours after he had been identified, you know."

Henrietta Kosciansky, 19-year-old kitchen girl at the hotel, grew suspicious when she saw a picture in a detective magazine resembling the barboy. Others in the hotel bolstered her belief—but it was four hours before anyone telephoned detectives.

"I didn't call police because I just thought of it as a coincidence and I didn't have the nerve to think of him as an actual killer," Miss Kosciansky said. "When I found out that he was gone, then I realized that he must be Irwin. I feel like a nickel now."

The police described Irwin as wearing a light grey suit and a tan leather jacket.

Cleveland bus terminal attendants said they saw a man answering the description nervously pacing in front of the bus station a few minutes before the Chicago-bound bus pulled out at 1:20 a. m.

The long-missing youth, identified through photos in a detective story magazine, escaped capture by only a few hours, police said.

The kitchen girl, Miss Kosciansky, said he had been working at the downtown hotel as a barboy, under the name of "Robert Murray."

A further check disclosed he registered at the smaller hotel where he lived on April 8—just eleven days after the garroted bodies of Veronica "Ronnie" Gedeon, 20-year-old artist's model, her mother, Mary, 64, and a male roomer were found in the Gedeon's Beekman Hill apartment in New York.

In addition to the kitchen girl, a clerk and half a dozen other hotel employes recognized police photos of Robert Irwin as the barboy who drew portraits of them during his off hours.

The most important clue left by the one-time divinity student was a pair of old shoes which police found under his bed.

Detective Lieutenant Stephen Tozer said he found markings inside the shoes bearing the name "Simpson Co., Ltd." and the address "Montreal, Canada."

A New York police circular said the suspect wore an expensive brand of shoe manufactured in Canada.

The kitchen girl explained her delay in notifying police of her suspicions by saying:

"I thought it was just a coincidence when I saw the picture in thumbing through an old detective story magazine last night. I asked him playfully, 'say, Bob, what is your real name, anyhow?'"

"Robert Murray, why?" she said he replied.

"Then I said, 'did you ever hear of Robert Irwin?' and he turned his back to me and said, 'no'—sounding kind of indifferent. I didn't see the expression on his face. He turned and walked out of the hotel kitchen and that was the last I saw of him."

The girl said the youth invited her to pose for him. She agreed, she recalled with a shudder today, but then—

"After he started drawing me, he put his hands around by neck. It gave me chills. I got up and left and told him to keep his picture."

A search of the youth's dingy hotel room, where he was registered under the name of "Jack Murdock," disclosed half a dozen New York newspapers. Several of them referred to the Easter Sunday slayings, and parts of each story had been clipped out.

BERNICE FELTON

ordered her held to the October grand jury here. Deputy United States Marshal B. J. Reaves released her from jail to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Abaham Felton.

The family indicated it would start the return journey to Rockford immediately.

The charge was based on the allegation that after Gates was slain, Brockelhurst and the Felton girl drove the Little Rock man's automobile across the Arkansas-Tennessee state line. The couple were arrested May 13 at Brewster, N. Y., in possession of Gates' machine. Brockelhurst, sentenced to die in the electric chair August 27, testified at Bernice's trial in Lonoke yesterday he killed Gates and stole the automobile because the girl wanted a means of transportation.

Bernice was acquitted of first degree and accessory to murder charges in connection with the killing after testifying she aided Brockelhurst in the crime through fear for her own life.

She was not represented by counsel when arraigned before Commissioner Rankin today. She entered a formal plea of innocent to the federal charge and waived examination. The government presented no evidence.

The Felton girl spent last night at Liberty with her family. She was re-arrested at Lonoke this morning and transferred to Little Rock late today.

BROCKELHURST IN IMPROVED SPIRITS

TUCKER PRISON FARM, Ark., June 26.—(AP)—Lester Brockelhurst, condemned Galesburg, Ill., "crime tourist," told visitors to the death-house here tonight he was "glad" his erstwhile sweetheart, Bernice Felton, was acquitted on charges of aiding him kill Victor A. Gates near Lonoke May 6.

The prisoner, under sentence to be electrocuted August 27 for the Gates' slaying, was in good spirits, showing no trace of the emotional collapse he suffered when brought here last night.

Prison guards took him to headquarters at Cummins prison farm today, where he was fingerprinted and catalogued.

BIRTHS

JONESBORO, La., June 26.—(Special)—Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Ponder of Jonesboro have announced the birth of a daughter on June 23, weighing eight pounds. Her name is Velda Rae Ponder.

OHIO GOVERNOR

sion to bring the steel men to Columbus.

"I have no right to keep plants closed except in case of riot," said the governor, whose order to national guardsmen to protect those employes wanting to work was responsible for the reopening of Youngstown plants yesterday.

"Secretary Perkins' suggestion would be in my judgment the exercise of the most autocratic and dictatorial powers ever attempted.

"In private life it would be kidnaping. Until the courts have decided that the companies have to sign contracts or agreements I have no right to take anyone and hold them.

"That might be all right in Germany or Italy. I am not going to abuse my constitutional power for Mr. Girdler or anyone else. • • •

"I recognize that I may have committed political suicide. I knew from the outset that the situation was loaded with dynamite, but I have put politics out of consideration."

Davey refused to remove the national guard from the mill towns.

The labor delegation, informed of Davey's decision, then adopted a resolution to "vigorously condemn Governor Davey for his alignment with the steel autocrats."

It described the executive as a "low type politician who made promises and continually violated them."

Claims and counter-claims echoed along the strike-embroiled region from Johnstown, Pa., to Warren, O., with leaders of steel flatly asserting:

"The strike is over. The mills are going. The men are coming back."

They said thousands of mill hands returned to Mahoning valley steel plants under the protection of Ohio national guardsmen during the day.

C. I. O. chieftains retorted: "We have just begun to fight."

At the eastern end of the salient, at Johnstown, union officials mapped plans for a huge Sunday mass meeting of coal miners and striking steel workers.

James Mark, white-haired C. I. O. leader, called for a mass "invasion" of the city by coal miners from all over western Pennsylvania. Union officials said they expected "between 50,000 and 100,000 men."

The situation in Johnstown tonight appeared potentially the same as last week-end's crisis, when Governor George H. Earle proclaimed martial law and shut down Bethlehem Steel's Cambria works after a similar threatened march by 400,000 miners to demonstrate "sympathy" for the steel strikers.

Governor Earle lifted martial law at 7 a.m. yesterday, permitting the Cambria works to re-open. He said, at that time, that the emergency in Johnstown had passed.

In contrast to the steel executives' claims that the strike was "broken" by concerted back-to-work movements in Ohio and Pennsylvania, Philip Murray, chairman of the Steel Workers Organizing committee, declared:

"We have every reason to believe that the strike in four of the nation's big independent steel mills will be won."

Murray urged Eugene Grace, president of Bethlehem Steel, urging him to hold employes' elections under supervision of the national labor relations board "to determine whether a majority of your workers desire to be represented for collective bargaining purposes," by John L. Lewis' C. I. O.

A 20-member C. I. O. committee representing steel men and mine workers called on Governor Davey at Columbus, O., and bitterly protested the use of national guardsmen for what they deser bed as "strike-breaking" purposes in protecting the reopening of Mahoning Valley steel mills.

Lee Hall of Cleveland, regional C. I. O director, told Governor Davey that the committee represented 30 industrial cities in Ohio and West Virginia. With the committee came 700 workers.

Before calling on the governor, the union filed suit in federal court to enjoin him from using national guardsmen to protect men returning to their jobs in the strike area.

Meanwhile, a "back-to-work" movement in Chicago—scene of the bloody Memorial day riot at the Republic Steel plant there in which 10 men died—gained in strength while strike leaders echoed defiance.

On the Ohio front, strike spokesmen shrugged at company claims of "normal" operations being resumed, asserting that the back-to-work movement showed little success in several points along the 150-mile strike front, extending from Johnstown, Pa., to Warren, O.

"A definite check shows there has been no rush back to work," said a union statement, issued at Warren. "A great many men who have been in Republic Steel's plant have joined the ranks of the strikers."

Republic officials, however, claimed 5,000 men returned to their jobs today and said they expected 4,500 more to return with the night shift tonight at Youngstown.

Youngstown Sheet and Tube—another of the four independent steel companies involved in the seven-state dispute with John L. Lewis' C. I. O. over the question of signed labor contracts—announced that 5,500 men came through the gates of the company's plants at Campbell and Brier Hill for the day shift.

"This number was sufficient to run the plants 100 per cent," the announcement said.

President Roosevelt's federal mediation board disbanded today, with Charles P. Taft, II, admitting that the peaceseeking efforts of the board were "virtually closed." Taft said he planned to sail for Europe Wednesday on a vacation.

Only Assistant Secretary of Labor Edward F. McGrady remained at the board's Cleveland headquarters. He said he would stay on the job indefinitely "to keep in close touch" with the strike and to "be available to both sides if called upon."

The board's week-long mediation efforts collapsed after Republic, Inland, Bethlehem and Youngstown Sheet and Tube rejected the board's appeal for a "man-to-man" round table conference with C. I. O. leaders and declared they would not deal with Lewis' "irresponsible" union.

MARY PICKFORD

banks ended in divorce, was late for the wedding. Wearing a blue crepe gown and carrying a spray of orchids, she found Buddy waiting for her when she arrived minutes past the three p. m. wedding hour at the home of the Louis D. Lightons.

In the small group of witnesses stood the genial, white-haired father of Buddy, Probate Judge Bert H. Rogers, whose "Cupid's parlor" at Olathe, Kan., has been the scene of hundreds of weddings. He had hoped to the last he would perform the ceremony of Mary and Buddy there.

A double ring ceremony, performed by Dr. James Hamilton, Congregational minister, united the couple. The Congregational ritual does not include the word "obey."

The ceremony was simple and brief. Several minutes after 3 o'clock, Miss Pickford walked to an altar-like sycamore in the garden on the arm of her cousin, Selmer Chalif, and accompanied by Mrs. Lighton (the matron of honor). Rogers and his brother, the best man, were waiting near the tree with the minister. Rogers smiled at his bride and she smiled back as they took their places.

In the streets outside, there was a constant parade of cars—most of them with out-of-state licenses—but a dozen police officers kept them moving.

Miss Pickford wore a blue crepe gown and an empire felt hat. She carried a large spray of Fuchsia orchids. Members of the immediate wedding party were formally attired, but the others were in semi-formal dress.

After the wedding, there was a reception for the wedding party given by the Lightons, which was followed by a large reception at Pickfair for friends of the bride and bridegroom. More than 300 persons, many of them celebrities in the motion picture world, came to felicitate the couple.

FERRIDAY, La., June 26.—(Special)—Sheriff E. P. Campbell and deputies and Chief of Police E. E. Burkin of Ferriday were continuing their investigation of the robbery of the Pasternack Variety store on Front street early this week, when over one hundred dollars was taken from the cash drawer, but at latest reports no clues had been found as to the party or parties who lifted the skylights of the store and escaped with the money and articles from the store.

BATES' TRIPLE IN 14TH WINS FOR TWINS, 4-3

SPORTS CHATTER

By George V. Lofton

BRIGHTER PROSPECTS

Despite the fact that the Twins are resting in last place, we are not convinced that the local club will not be among the first four when the Cotton States campaign comes to a close. The first four clubs will fight it out in the championship series at the end of the season and we believe Monroe will be in that battle.

Unquestionably the Twins are playing better ball than marked their efforts two weeks ago. The team has been strengthened and the management will continue their hunt for replacements. In fact, Dick Burnett is on a scouting trip right now that may produce the desired results.

Throw out that nightmare last Wednesday night, and you'll find that the Twins have been playing creditable ball, although they haven't shown a profit on the right side of the ledger since they returned home. But their won and lost average of the past week was much better than a week ago.

The pitching staff has been strengthened materially. Walter Petraborg and Ralph Pate both should win plenty of games between now and the first of September. Carl Wolfsberger, a rookie, is said to possess a world of stuff and should win if he regains his control. Claire Bates and Walter Butler have been playing great ball of late. Cully Rikard, always a good fielder, apparently has snapped out of his hitting slump. Beauford Rhea and Howard Getschell, two newcomers, were impressive at bat in the first few games with the Twins but Rhea gave evidence Friday night that he can hit. And he's plenty fast. Bill Vandenberg has been a life saver in the outfield, but Bill primarily is a pitcher and a deal is in the making whereby another outfielder will be acquired.

Taken as a whole, the present outlook isn't near as hopeless as the position of the team would indicate. Given good pitching, we're convinced the Twins will go places before the curtain drops.

LOUIS AND JOHNSON

Peculiarly, Joe Louis today finds himself in almost the same predicament that confronted Jack Johnson, the first negro heavyweight champion of the world, almost thirty years ago.

Louis is champion by virtue of his victory over Jim Braddock last Tuesday night but he won't be generally recognized by the boxing public at large until he beats Max Schmeling. The situation was much the same when Johnson won his title.

Johnson actually won his championship when he defeated Tommy Burns in Australia in 1908. But Jim Jeffries had retired undefeated in 1905 and Burns gained the title in a sort of elimination series. So when Jack beat Burns he could lay valid claim to the title, yet he wasn't accepted by the fans for two more years. Then Jeffries was influenced to attempt a comeback in 1910, and Johnson knocked him out in the 15th round at Reno, Nevada. Only then was Johnson recognized as a real champion.

Now Louis, the second negro heavyweight champion in history, is in the same boat. Officially he's the titleholder but the fans won't forget that Schmeling knocked him out last summer. Until he meets and beats the German, Alabama Joe will be the champ in name only.

Maybe the similarity of the career of Johnson and Louis will be carried through to the end. Stranger things have happened. Louis apparently is a much improved fighter and there are many who saw him beat Braddock who will string along with him against Schmeling. In fact, some of the experts are predicting that Louis will reign for a long, long time. Johnson held the title for seven years—until Willard lifted the crown from his head in that somewhat off-color affair at Havana on April 5, 1915. It remains to be seen whether or not the Detroit negro can match that record.

KENT HANDICAP WON BY STRABO

Delaware Park Opens Gates To Near Capacity Crowd Of 18,000

WILMINGTON, Del., June 26.—(AP)—Delaware park, the $750,000 "toy" of William du Pont, Jr., and associates, opened its gates today and most of the near capacity crowd of 18,000 went home well pleased, for Mrs. Oliver Iselin's Strabo, well backed second choice, won the featured $10,000 Kent handicap.

Coming from far behind in the stretch, after having only one of nine three-year-old rivals beaten at the half mile post, the son of Pompey got up in the final stride to nose John Hay Whitney's favored Eying Scot out of the purse of $8,325.

The victory, coming on top of his Dwyer triumph at Aqueduct last week, boosted Strabo's earnings for the year to $22,745—a fortune compared to 1936 when his winnings of $470 hardly paid for his board and room. Backers of the colt, and they were legion in the crowd that crowded the beautiful compact little grand stand and jammed the elevated lawn, received $8.00 for each $2 played in the "tote," which handled $62,856 on the big race alone, and approximately $390,000 on the eight events.

Flying Scot, third in the Preakness and Latonia derby, got away slowly but quickly moved up and was right at Scrooge's flanks as Herman Phillips' representative set a hot pace past the grand stands, around the first bend and down the back stretch.

Slowly but surely, Strabo improved his position on the outside but he still was in fourth place, three lengths back, when Flying Scot pointed for home with his head in front and Scrooge holding second for a few more strides.

Lee Fallon drew his bat and beat a tune on the sides of his fast travelling mount. Strabo stepped up the tempo and with a mighty surge got up in the final stride.

A half length back came Mrs. Louis Viau's Red Flag to take third money in front of Scrooge, Pasha, Little Sleeper, Teddy Green, Swahili, Exhibitor and Jackie D. Strabo was closed in 1:46 1-5.

COCHRANE SAYS HE WON'T CATCH AGAIN

NEW YORK, June 26.—(AP)—In a copyrighted interview published today, Joe Williams, sports editor of the New York World Telegram, quotes Mickey Cochrane as saying definitely he will "never catch another game."

Williams interviewed Cochrane in a Detroit hospital, where the manager of the Detroit Tigers is recuperating from a skull fracture, the result of being "beaned" by Bump Hadley of the Yankees in a game here May 26.

"As a player I'm through for all time," Williams quoted Cochrane as saying. "Whether I'll continue as manager I can't say. I'm not thinking about my baseball future these days. All I'm thinking about is getting well."

Cochrane, discussing the accident, blamed himself. He explained that with the count "3 and 1" he was "prepared to take the next pitch, whether it was over or not." He says he lost the ball in the sun.

Cochrane, asked whether he thought batsmen should be compelled to wear protective headgear or a helmet, replied "absolutely."

"A thrown ball even in the hands of a careful, sporting pitcher can perform weird tricks • • • and a hitter it liable to be struck any time," said Mickey.

DON BUDGE PACES 3 AMERICANS TO QUARTER-FINALS

Experts Predict Budge-Von Cramm Duel For Title; U. S. Women Win

By Gayle Talbot

WIMBLEDON, England, June 26.—(AP)—A crowd of 25,000 swarmed over Wimbledon, filling every stand and choking passageways today, as the decks finally were cleared for the second week's vital play in the all-England tennis championships.

Completion of the fourth round of men's singles found three Americans, two Germans, two Australians and one Englishman qualified to play the quarter-finals Monday. There seemed nothing much more certain in the world than that America's red-headed Don Budge would meet Baron Gottfried von Cramm of Germany next Friday for the championship relinquished by Fred Perry.

These two have shown such tremendous superiority over the field, nobody else is even being mentioned in the same breath with them.

Von Cramm, in overwhelming Gene Mako of Los Angeles, 6-0, 6-2, 6-3, in fourth round match looked just about as impressive as did Budge yesterday in trimming Ladislaus Hecht of Czechoslovakia.

The German needed only 12 minutes to polish off the first set and, hitting more severely than a year ago, moved through the next two without being extended at any point. Von Cramm had the situation so well in hand at all times that he seldom moved up to the net. Mako's charges to forecourt invited disaster for four times out of every five the baron passed him with perfect shots down the sidelines.

Henry Wilfred (Bunny) Austin of England and Jack Crawford of Australia gained ridiculously easy passage into the quarter-finals but Heinrich Henkel, second-ranking German, had a struggle on his hands before he could subdue the rising young British southpaw, Charles Hare, 6-4, 3-6, 3-6, 6-2, 6-3.

In strong contrast to Henkel's troublesome day, Austin crushed Andre LaCroix of Belgium, 6-2, 6-1, 6-0, and Crawford, the only unseeded player to qualify for the last eight, disposed of L. Shaffi of Great Britain, 6-4, 6-3, 8-6.

Monday's quarter-final round pairings will send Budge against Vivian McGrath of Australia, and Frankie Parker of Milwaukee against Henkel in a pair of duels on the No. 1 court. The center court attractions will be Bryan M. (Bitsy) Grant, of Atlanta, against Austin, and Von Cramm against Crawford.

Meanwhile play in the women's singles division moved ahead in halting fashion with three of the favorites, Alice Marble, the United States champion, Dorothy Round of England and the Countess de la Valdene, the former Lili de Alvarez, qualifying for the fourth round.

Miss Marble defeated Mollie Lincoln of England, 6-1, 6-0; Miss Round disposed of Miss G. Terwindt of Holland, 6-2, 6-2; and the Countess Valdene won from Miss Alex McCostrich of Ireland, 6-4, 6-2. Miss Round and the Countess Valdene will meet in the fourth round Monday when the other principal women's singles feature will send Mme. Rene Mathieu of France against Mrs. M. R. (Phyllis Mudford) King.

Helen Jacobs, the defending champion and top-seeded player, and Mme. Hilda Krahwinkel Sperling of Denmark and Germany, reached the fourth round several days ago but will not see singles competition again until probably Tuesday.

Miss Jacobs and Mme. Sperling teamed up to win a second round doubles match from Miss M. Baumgarten of Hungary and Mrs. W. Merricks of Great Britain, 6-1, 5-7, 7-5. Dorothy Andrus of Stamford, Conn., and New York, also gained the third round with a 6-0, 7-5 decision over Mrs. C. P. Brutton and Miss S. G. Chuter of Great Britain.

Men's doubles competition saw the elimination of Grant and Wayne Sabin of Hollywood, Calif., after a spectacular duel with the crack Czechoslovakian combination of Hecht and Roderich Menzel, 5-7, 9-7, 6-4, 6-1. Parker and his Italian partner, Giorgio de Stefani, won from E. D. Andrews of New Zealand and Feruccio Quintavalle of Italy, 6-4, 1-6, 6-3, 6-3, and qualified for the third round.

In mixed doubles, Budge and Miss Marble won a third round match from D. W. Butler and Miss Round, 6-2, 4-6, 6-1.

Swartz, Crossett Start Ouachita Playoff Today

First Of Three-Game Series To Be Played At Crossett This Afternoon

The first half of the Ouachita league race ended last Wednesday with the Crossett Millers and the Swartz Carbon Blackers deadlocked for first place, each having a record of fifteen victories against five defeats. Brown Paper mill finished in third place two games behind the top.

A three-game playoff to decide the first half winners is scheduled to start Sunday, the game to be played at Crossett. The second game will be played at Swartz on Wednesday with the time and place of the third game, if one proves necessary, to be announced later.

On May 12 the Carbon Blackers had won four games and lost the same number, but suddenly the team got hot and started a winning streak on May 16 which was not ended until June 23, during which time the team won eleven straight victories. Hodge ended this sensational winning streak on the last day of the half to throw the Carbon Blackers into a tie with the Crossett Millers, who defeated Brown Paper mill on that day. During this eleven-game winning streak the Carbon Blackers defeated Brown three times and each of the other teams twice, with Malone, Elliott and Stegman pitching great ball behind airtight defense and timely hitting.

The largest crowd that has seen a Valley league game this year is expected to be on hand at Crossett Sunday. Crossett is baseball mad, and the park will undoubtedly be jammed with enthusiastic fans. The Millers are expected to start Lefty Butler in the box with Tex Moore doing the receiving while Swartz' battery will be either Malone or Elliott on the mound with Courtney behind the bat. Butler's pitching has been sensational although his luck against Swartz has not been so great, the Carbon Blackers defeating him in both his starts against them. Malone and Elliott have both defeated the Millers once each without any defeats.

At the league meeting Thursday night the Bastrop, Ruston and Hodge teams were voted permission to add six new players to their rosters. The Swartz, Crossett and Brown teams may add three players. The second half schedule will start on July 4.

CROSSETT, Ark., June 26.—(Special)—Officials of the Crossett Millers baseball club said today arrangements had been made to accommodate a crowd of 3,000 fans at Sunday's opening playoff game here with the Swartz Carbon Blackers. The Louisianans and Millers tied with fifteen and five losses a piece to end the first half of the Ouachita Valley league split season.

Manager Cortez "Tex" Moore of the Millers refused today to announce who he would send to the mound in Sunday's game, but said either Lefty Butler, Rob Roy McGregor, or Pat White was in condition and one of them will receive the call.

BROWN AT BASTROP

BASTROP, La., June 25.—(Special)—The Bastrop nine will meet the Brown paper mill Browns in an exhibition game on the local diamond Sunday. The game is set for 3:30 p. m.

Rudisell of Alexandria, a catcher has been added to the Bastrop roster and has been showing up well in practice. Other new men are expected to join the team before the second half of the Ouachita Valley league schedule opens Sunday, July 4.

Bastrop has two open dates before the opening of the new series, and exhibition games will be played on both these dates.

A large crowd of fans is expected Sunday.

DEFENDING CHAMP LOSES IN DENVER SEMI-FINAL

DENVER, June 26.—(AP)—Assuring a new champion, Eddie Held of St. Louis whipped defending Champion John Dawson of Chicago in the trans-Mississippi golf semi-finals today and will meet Don Schumacher, Dallas, Sunday, for the title.

Held, twice a former champion of the tournament, swamped Dawson 6 and 5. Schumacher eliminated Ed C. Kingsley of Salt Lake City, 2 and 1.

Held shot 2-under-par golf to erase the champion.

Eleven years ago, when Held was only 23, he defeated Dawson to capture the second of his trans-Mississippi titles. Now, after more than a decade, he has another crack at it.

ORLEANS YOUTH DEFENDS SENIOR NET TITLE TODAY

JACKSON, Miss., June 26.—(AP)—Billy McGehee of New Orleans will defend his senior singles title in the Mississippi State Tennis tournament here tomorrow against Lou Faquin of Memphis.

McGehee won the state junior singles title here earlier in the week, successfully defending his 1936 title in this division.

The New Orleans net ace was at his best this afternoon in trimming Ewing Hester of Jackson, 6-2, 6-2, 6-1, though he caught Hester somewhat winded after a grueling 4-set doubles match.

PLAYERS ADVISED TO FORM UNION

New York Fan Urges Major Team Members To Organize, Protect 'Rights'

NEW YORK, June 26.—(AP)—An individual attempt to promote a big league ball player's union, for possible affiliation with the C. I. O. or A. F. of L., came to light at the Yankee stadium today.

Members of the Detroit Tigers club before taking the field against the New York Yankees, revealed they had received letters urging them to organize, for the protection of their "rights" and inviting an expression of views on what unionized course they might desire to follow.

The letters were signed by one James Merrill, identified as a "distributor," with offices at 25 West 43rd street. Merrill was out of town. His secretary said similar letters were addressed to ball players on all 16 major league clubs. An associate added that Merrill was a "fan," who had undertaken an independent effort to sound out the players on the subject of union organization, after talking with several big leaguers personally.

It was said at Merrill's offices that no definite plan had been proposed nor any baseball officials consulted.

Merrill's letter, which neither the Tigers nor Yankees appeared to take seriously, stated his purpose was to end "the domineering, slavish treatment of ball players."

An enclosed blank, marked confidential, asked the players to check whether they preferred an independent union.

"You are as much an attraction as movie stars," the letter said. "Many earn thousands weekly and can work all year without the physical risks you take. You create enormous earnings for owners. You can secure and enforce your rights only by organizing. Public opinion and the Wagner labor relations act now back and protect you against dismissal, blacklist and reprisal, if you organize. It compels owners to negotiate equitable terms of employment."

AMERICAN PLAYERS FIND COURSE HARD

SOUTHPORT, Eng., June 26.—(AP)—Bounded by a graveyard and a terrifying range of sand dunes and swept for the first time in a week by a stiff wind, the Southport and Ainsdale course frightened America's professional golfers today into full realization of the task that lies ahead of them if they are to retain the Ryder cup against Great Britain here Tuesday and Wednesday.

The sub-par scores that had marked the Americans' first tussels with the layout were conspicuously absent today. Non-playing Captain Walter Hagen divided his squad into pairs in preparation for Scotch four-ball play and was far from satisfied with the results.

Only the combination of Ralph Guldahl, U. S. Open champion, and Tony Manero, whom Guldahl dethroned, shaped up satisfactorily.

Sam Snead, playing for the first time under the eye of Hagen, looked his shots so wildly that his partner, Gene Sarazen, was forced to play nearly every second shot from the rough.

Other combinations tried by Hagen comprised Byron Nelson and Horton Smith; Ed Dudley and Henry Picard; Johnny Revolta and Denny Shute. The American captain said definitely he would make some changes before the cup competition starts Tuesday.

In contrast with the Americans difficulties in adapting themselves to less homelike playing conditions Britain's Henry Cotton, thrilled onlookers with a remarkable practice round of 64.

SEABISCUIT OUTLASTS ANEROID TO WIN RACE

NEW YORK, June 26.—(AP)—U. S. Howard's crack California campaigner Seabiscuit outlasted John A. Manchester's speed marvel, Aneroid, in a spectacular stretch duel at Aqueduct today and won the 4-mile Brooklyn handicap and $7,425 by a nose.

The Greentree stable's Memphis Bobk, closing with his usual belated rush, took third money for William du Pont, Jr.'s Rosemont, which defeated Seabiscuit's stablemate, the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap winner, Azucar, a favorite, seventh in a field of nine.

The winner, second choice in the betting to Aneroid at 10 to 5, was clocked in 1:50 1-5 for the mile and an eighth and boosted his 1937 earnings to $64,000.

Rosemont coupled with Gold Seeker as the Fitzpatrick farm's entry and held at 9 to 2 in the betting was well up for half a mile but tired then and was never thereafter a factor. Gold Seeker finished fifth behind the Maemere farm's Maemel.

SUTTER RETAINS TENNIS CROWN

Defeats Gerin Cameron In Straight Sets In Intercollegiate Final

HAVERFORD, Pa., June 26.—(AP)—Ernest Sutter, of Tulane university, today retained his national intercollegiate tennis singles championship by sweeping through Gerin Cameron, of Tulsa university, 6-2, 6-2, 6-2, on the turf courts of the Merion Cricket club.

The house of Sutter now can place the fourth college titular trophy on its mantle. Ernest's brother Clifford won the championship on the same court in 1930 and 1932. Ernest Captured his first title last year on the clay courts of Northwestern university.

The doubles championship was won by the University of California team of Richard Bennett and Paul Newton. They defeated Norman Bickel and Norbert Burgess, of the University of Chicago, in four sets, 6-3, 3-6, 6-1, 9-7.

Cameron was able to offer sustained resistance only at the start of the second set when he carried his service twice to square the set at 2-all. In the first and third sets he was left at the post-rallying only when Sutter all but had them won.

The 24-year-old Oklahoman was armed with none of the weapons that enabled him to upset Robert Karrath, of Texas, in the quarter-finals, and Julius Heldman, of the University of California at Los Angeles in the semi-finals. His deadly backhand of yesterday never once flashed, clearing the road for Sutter to attack from all angles.

Sutter, whose appetite was whetted by his five-set semi-final victory yesterday over Richard Bennett of California, closed in on his opponent with an orthodox plan of attack. He followed his first serve and forcing shots to the net to finish his attack with emphatic volleys. Cameron was powerless to break up this procedure.

MORRIS, HORNER ENTER BEAUVOIR SEMI-FINALS

MONTGOMERY, Ala., June 26.—(AP)—Johnny Morris and Scud Jay Horner, outstanding among Alabama's younger golfing generation and tournament co-favorites, moved into semi-finals of the 26th Beauvoir Country club invitational today, disposing of two opponents each.

Weldon Doe, Jr., 19-year-old Montgomerian, and Captain W. D. McAllister, Maxwell Field, Ala., will meet the favorites tomorrow morning.

The championship will be decided in an 18-hole afternoon round.

Don Zimmerman of Bogalusa, La., former Tulane football star, Beverly Biggins, Auburn, Steve McGill, Atlanta, and W. B. Bassett, Montgomery, were eliminated in first round matches.

GIANTS BEAT CARDINALS 5-3 TO EVEN SERIES

HUBBELL FACES DEAN TODAY IN ANOTHER DUEL

Record-Breaking Crowd Expected For Final; Melton Wins For Giants

ST. LOUIS, June 26.—(AP)—The New York Giants today set the stage for tomorrow's Dizzy Dean-Carl Hubbell duel by whipping the Cardinals 5 to 3 to even the current series at one-all.

They teed off on Mike Ryba in the second and third innings to score all their runs and then coasted in behind the effective pitching of Cliff Melton and Dick Coffman, despite a three-run rally by the Cards in the sixth.

The victory left the Cards a game back of the league leading Chicago Cubs and the Giants in third place, another game behind.

Although he was belted out in the Gas House Gang's sixth-inning surge, Melton received credit for his sixth win of the season. Coffman's effective relief pitching, however, saved the game. He allowed only one hit in 3 1-3 innings. After Ryba was driven to the showers, the Cards sent Jim Winford, Ray Harrell and Lefty Bob Weiland to the mound.

Bartell's double, after a walk, an error by Don Padgett, and singles by Mel Ott, Johnny McCarthy and Melton gave the Giants their three runs in the second. In the third, another fumble by Padgett aided the Giants in getting their other two tallies, which were produced on singles by Jojo Moore, Jim Ripple, Johnny McCarthy and Gos Mancuso.

The Cards staged their one scoring spree after two were out in the sixth. Jim Brown smashed a double and Padgett, Ducky Medwick, Johnny Mize and Don Gutteridge singled in order.

DEAN VS. HUBBELL

ST. LOUIS, June 26.—(AP)—There may be only one "battle of the century," but the magic of another Dizzy Dean-Carl Hubbell duel will attract a near-record crowd to Sportsman's park tomorrow, when the St. Louis Cardinals and the New York Giants wind up their 3-game series.

Many of the fans hope to see a repetition of the riotous game of May 19, when the great Hubbell defeated Dean, 4 to 1, before 27,000 persons, the largest week-day crowd for a single regular season game here. The record for a Sunday is 40,000.

While the New York left-hander went calmly about the business that day of adding to his now broken winning streak, Dean put on one of the greatest spectator shows in baseball history. He got into a violent argument with Umpire George Barr over a balk ruling and then, later in the game, precipitated a grand "free-for-all" fight.

The Cardinal office has requests for tickets for tomorrow's game from all over the middle west.

DODGERS SHADE CUBS

CHICAGO, June 26. — (AP) — The Brooklyn Dodgers outlasted Bill Lee and the Cubs today to win a 2 to 1 victory in 11 innings, when long Tom Winsett doubled with two out to send the deciding run across.

The Dodgers had come from behind to tie the score in the eighth on Gil Brack's double and Joe Stripp's single, and finished on top in the second extra frame when Winsett produced to bring in Babe Phelps, who had singled.

Waite Hoyt who started on the mound for the Dodgers, gave up five of the Cubs' six hits in the seven innings he worked. The Cubs got to him in the second for their only run which was unearned. Max Butcher, returning to action after a lengthy illness, pitched one-hit ball for four innings to take credit for the win. The victory was the Dodgers' first in Chicago this year.

PHILS WIN IN 13TH

PITTSBURGH, June 26.—(AP)—Earle Browne, whom Pittsburgh traded to Philadelphia earlier this season for Pitcher Joe Bowman, batted in the run today which gave the Phillies a 7 to 6 victory in 13 innings. They had beaten Bowman yesterday.

Cy Blanton and Bucky Walter hurled an unsteady but effective duel until three singles in a row finally decided the issue. Blanton was relieved by Swift in the 13th after Chuck Klein and Dolph Camilli hit safely, but Browne then pounded in the winning score. Walter went the route.

The Phils batted in four runs in the seventh and one in the ninth to overtake the Bucs' early lead.

REDS BLANK BEES

CINCINNATI, June 26.—(AP)—Lee Grissom pitched three-hit ball today for his fourth shutout of the season, giving the Cincinnati Reds a 2 to 0 victory over Boston for the club's seventh victory in nine starts.

The veteran Guy Bush, who went seven innings, and ancient Bob Smith, allowed only seven safeties between them but it was enough.

Only one Bee got as far as second when Cuccinello doubled in the ninth. Grissom fanned six and issued two walks in running his total to 20 consecutive innings of scoreless ball and his season's victories to seven.

Jordan scored Cincinnati's first tally in the opening frame, romping home on Hafey's triple after singling, stealing second and going to third on Lopez's error. Goodman tripled in the sixth and scored on Weintraub's single.

DETROIT PITCHER HOLDS CHAMPIONS TO FOUR SAFETIES

Bengals Stage Four-Run Rally Off Gomez To Win Game In Fifth Inning

NEW YORK, June 26.—(AP)—Young Jake Wade worked his magic on the Yankees again today and had Murderers' Row as docile as a flock of sheep.

He duplicated his recent four-hit performance against the world champions and pitched the Detroit Tigers to a 5 to 3 victory to even the current series and cut the Yanks' American league lead to three games.

Until the ninth inning, he pitched two-hit ball to best Lefty Gomez in a pitching duel. Except for three innings, not a man went beyond first base against him.

Only in the second inning, when Jake Powell singled, stole second, went to third on a wild pitch, and died there; in the fifth, when George Selkirk's 15th homer produced the Yanks' first run, and in the ninth, when Frank Crosetti's pinch-homer with a mate aboard added the other two runs, did the Yanks threaten.

The Tigers sewed up the game with a four-run rally off Gomez in the fifth, featured by Rudy York's homer with a mate aboard. The other two runs in the same frame came in on a walk. Pete Fox's single and Billy Rogell's double. In the seventh, a walk, a fielder's choice and Gomez's error added the Tigers' last run.

The victory was Wade's third of the season against four setbacks. For Gomez it was the sixth loss against nine victories.

CHISOX RALLY TO WIN

WASHINGTON, June 26.—(AP)—The Chicago White Sox rallied in the ninth inning to win a second straight victory from Washington, 6 to 5.

The Sox pushed across three runs in the ninth against Pete Appleton and Syd Cohen and made off with a nip and tuck battle that was their eighth victory over the Senators in 11 meetings this year.

Vernon Kennedy was credited with the triumph, although he was removed for a pinch hitter before the game was won. Dixie Walker drove over the winning run with one of his three hits. Mike Kreevich also collected three of the Sox' 13 hits.

BROWNS STOP RED SOX

BOSTON, June 26. — (AP) — Right-hander Jim Walkup found today's chilly and misty weather conditions so ideal that he held the hard-hitting Red Sox to four hits while his St. Louis teammate were pounding Johnny Marcum for a 7-1 victory.

It was Marcum's first start in three weeks, due to a sprained wrist, and he gave every one of the Browns at least one hit, for a total of 13. Ethan Allen led the St. Louis attack with a pair of doubles and a single and Harland Clift whacked out his thirteenth homer of the season.

Marcum, who had no part in the Red Sox's recent nine wins out of 10 starts, lacked his usual effectiveness. Although he did not issue a single pass, he had so little stuff that the Browns hammered him for three runs in the second, two more in the sixth and single tallies in the seventh and ninth.

A'S BLANK INDIANS

PHILADELPHIA, June 26.—(AP)—Lee "Buck" Ross held the Cleveland Indians to three hits today while his Philadelphia teammates pounded Mel Harder to score a 7 to 0 victory, ending a losing streak of 10 straight games.

Ross struck out six and walked only one in yielding three scattered singles, one in the first, eighth and ninth.

A four-run splurge in the fourth on five hits, a base on balls and an error sewed up the game for the A's.

CUNNINGHAM SETS NEW TRACK MARK

Runs Mile And Half In 6:34, Bettering Record Set By Paavo Nurmi

NEW YORK, June 26.—(AP)—Glenn Cuningham, holder of the world mile record, was successful in one-half of his campaign to annex two more records today when he ran a mile and one-half in 6:34 at the all-sports carnival held by the Metropolitan A. A. U. at Randall's Island stadium.

Cunningham bettered the previous record of 6:42.5 made by Paavo Nurmi of Finland in 1925, by more than eight seconds. The mile and a half standard is not accepted as an official world record, however being listed with the other odd-distance races under the heading of "noteworthy performances."

The speedy Kansan ran after a hurried automobile trip from Passaic, N. J., where he had failed in an attempt to break the world half-mile record at the New Jersey state championship meet. He ran a paced 880 yards in 1:57.8 as compared to Ben Eastman's record of 1:49.8.

Cunningham had the track all to himself in the 1½-mile race. Joe McCluskey of the New York A. C. took the lead at the start. Cunningham trailed him for a lap, then moved up to set his own pace. He had a three-yard advantage over McCluskey at the half-mile mark and pulled away steadily to complete the mile in 4:25, 30 yards ahead of the former Fordham runner.

Denis Shore, South African Olympic runner, also got an even break in two performances. He finished second in the 300-yard run, a yard back of Jimmy McPoland of the New York A. C., former Georgetown runner, then won the 600-yard special by three yards from Jimmy Herbert, freshman sensation at New York university who ran for the New York curb exchange, and Howard Borck of the 69th Regiment.

Shore ran the 600 in the good time of 1:10.7, a second and a half slower than Eastman's official world record. McPoland's time for the 300 was 31.4

Jacobs' Attorney Sails Tonight To Complete Arrangements For Fight

NEW YORK, June 26.—(AP)—Mike Jacobs, the man at the throttle of the heavyweight parade, threw it wide open on his return to Broadway today from Chicago.

He definitely announced his newly-crowned heavyweight champion, Joe Louis, will fight abroad this summer, probably in the Wembley arena, London, in August.

Mike ordered his attorney, Sol Strauss, to sail on the S. S. New York at midnight to close for an August bout between Louis and either Ben Foord, the South African; Jack Doyle, the Irish thrush, or Len Harvey.

"I have had a half dozen transatlantic telephone conversations with Arthur Elvin, Wembley arena promoter," said Mike. "Almost everything has been agreed to except an opponent. Elvin says he can get either Foord, Harvey or Doyle and they are agreeable to us if we can't have Tommy Farr.

Farr, conqueror of Maxi Baer, already hassigned to fight Max Schmeling for promoters of the Harringay stadium.

Jacobs, who has Louis signed to a new contract covering five years, plans to keep

WRESTLING TO RETURN HERE TUESDAY NIGHT

ALL-STAR CARD TO BE PRESENTED FOR FIRST SHOW

Lou Plummer Meets Cistoldi In Main Event; New Policy Announced

Wrestling returns to Monroe Tuesday night after an absence of several months with an all-star card arranged to lure mat fans back to their favorite sport, it was announced yesterday. Matches will be held at the Twin City stadium, formerly known as Roosevelt stadium, scene of wrestling battles here for the past five years.

A new corporation has been formed to promote here and Charlie Bruscato, who formerly owned the promotional rights, has been employed as matchmaker. Several improvements have been made at the stadium, it was announced, among which was the installation of four giant fans which will cool the arena during the summer months.

In the main event of Tuesday's initial card, Lou Plummer, sensational Illinois heavyweight, will meet Angelo Cistoldi, the rough Italian from Pennsylvania. For the semi-final attraction, Matchmaker Bruscato has booked Doug Wycoff, the former Georgia Tech football star, who was quite a favorite here several months ago, and Frank Sexton, an Ohio villain who tips the beam at 240 pounds. Cistoldi and Wycoff have wrestled here several times before but Plummer and Sexton will be making their first appearance at the local arena.

Plummer is a former Notre Dame star who has defeated such wrestlers as Sabdor Szabo, Dave Levin, Jim McMillen, Jim Londos, Ernie Dusek, Chief Little Wolf, Gus Sonnenberg, "Strangler" Lewis, John Pesek and other top-flight mat performers. His favorite hold is his famous turnover body scissors. He also employs the jarring flying tackles to good advantage. He's won quite a reputation as the cave-man of the ring and he always packs plenty of action in his performances.

Cistoldi also has an excellent record. Local fans who saw him in action here can testify as to his ability to take it as well as deal out the punishment. Cistoldi likes a rough battle but he's likely to get a little more than he can handle from Plummer. Angelo started a feud with the fans on his first appearance here and the local enthusiasts gave him a warm reception whenever he worked here.

Both matches will be best two out of three falls, with the main event having a two-hour time limit and the semi-final limited to one hour. "Butch" Martin will referee the bouts, Walter Veach will make the announcements and Amos Smelser will keep time.

It was announced that the opening show Tuesday will be designated as ladies' night.

An entirely new policy has been assured mat fans by the new promoters. The admission price will be reduced to 59 cents, plus six cents federal tax, making a total of 65 cents. Cold drinks will be sold for five cents instead of ten, as in the past.

It was announced that the shows will start at 8:30 o'clock during the summer.

SHREVEPORT TEAM WILL PLAY LOCAL CLUB TODAY

Renewing a rivalry which began with two games between the teams last year, the Southern Bell club of the Monroe Twilight league will play the Southern Bell club of the Shreveport Class A league here at the Barkdull Faulk diamond this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

The Monroe club will play a return game at Shreveport later in the season.

Rumors reaching Monroe from the Caddo parish capital are to the effect that the Shreveport club will introduce to Monroe fans a speedball artist whose offerings are unusually difficult to master. The Monroe team will start Couch on the mound, with Henry catching.

Last year the Monroe Southern Bell team defeated the Shreveport team here in 10 innings. In the return game at Shreveport, the team of that city won in two extra innings, the game ending with the ninth frame.

A GOOD YEAR

The books are closed and the 1936-37 athletic year is a thing of the past, but the recent report rendered the athletic council of Northeast Center of L. S. U. is worthy of comment. In a letter to members of the council, Athletic Director Jim Malone revealed that the athletic department out at the Center enjoyed its most successful year financially.

The junior college not only "paid its way" during the past season but all old debts were wiped off the books. And we don't mean they were outlawed. By economical administration, the affairs of the department were so directed that enough money was made to pay off the entire indebtedness that had piled up during the past few years.

The council assisted materially by its season ticket drive at the start of the season. The games with Centenary and Southeastern packed 'em in. Boxing aso helped produce some real revenue. And last, but far from least, was the helpful cooperation of Dean S. A. Caldwell.

Dr. Caldwell took an active interest in athletics from the start and under his direction, a well-rounded program was mapped out and successfully completed. He kept in close touch with every detail and his advice proved just what was needed to round out the organization.

Coach Malone has produced some good football teams at Northeast Center. With some outstanding material on hand for the 1937 eleven, plus a bang-up schedule for next fall, the Indians should go places. The Caldwell-Malone combination is a good one and here's hoping it continues to function as efficiently in 1937-38.

SHORT TAKES

Clifford Johnson caught a couple of games for the Texarkana club last week and turned in a right nice job, according to those who saw him in action. Cliff filled in while the Liners were awaiting the arrival of Kapplеman, their new receiver.

We got a laugh out of the statement in a paper near here that Lena Blackburn is Joe Louis' manager. It's true Lena was manager of the White Sox when Art Shires was on the team but that's the nearest he ever got to piloting mitt slingers.

Eddie McLane, who saw the big light in Chicago, says he's converted. The Bomber will take Schmeling just as he did Braddock, says Eddie.

The Britons are gluttons for punishment. They really went for Max Baer in a big way. Now they've signed the playboy to a movie contract that calls for a $2,500 per week pay check.

The management of the Monroe club has booked the Giants and Indians for an exhibition game at Casino park next spring. That doesn't indicate that Dick Burnett is ready to quit here.

Joe McCarthy believes his Newark rookie, Gene Kelleher, will blossom into a great major league star next season.

Schoolboy Rowe is slated to return to active duty when the Tigers return to Detroit on July 5. The Schoolboy believes that Miami medico straightened out the kinks in his arm.

The fishing rodeo scheduled at Delhi on July 9 has developed into one of the outstanding sports attraction of this section.

Our nomination for a "most valuable" trophy winner is Walter Butler. He's caught almost every game the Twins have played this year and he's still as full of the old chatter as ever. If you don't think that's a tough job, just ask any other catcher.

Incidentally, at least two umpires will tell you that Butler is the best catcher in the league.

Buck Brown and Jess Fatherree are winning regularly as members of the Lafayette mound corps.

The Ouachita Valley league playoff starts at Crossett today. That Swartz-Crossett series oughta be good.

LONG HIT BREAKS

at short and "Red" threw over Bates' head at first, Nelson scoring. Powers singled to left and Schell doubled to right, scoring Poole, Crisler and Pruitt rolled out, Borom to Bates, without further advance.

The Twins routed Schell in the second but couldn't score. Vandenberg led off with a double and Borom beat out a hit to second base. Richardson walked, filling the bases and sending Schell to the showers. Sheffield took over the hurling chores for the Bucks and forced Rhea to ground to Kinzer, who threw home to force out Vandenberg. Getschell then hit a hopper to Pruitt at third, "Red" stepped on the bag to force Borom and then tossed to first in time to catch Getschell.

The Bucks went ahead in the fifth when, with one out, Pruitt singled to right center. Farrell skied to Vandenberg in right but Kinzer singled to left and Nelson got a hit to the same spot, scoring Pruitt. Poole popped to Hock for the third out.

The Twins came back in the seventh and knotted the count. With two out, Rhea got his second hit, a single to right center, and went to second when Poole let the ball get through him. Getschell worked Sheffield for a pass and then Rikard slapped a single to right center to score Rhea after the speedy left fielder had stolen third base.

Then there was no more scoring until the fourteenth, when Bates took charge and sent the crowd home, late but happy.

Hearing on the charge was set for late Monday afternoon in city court.

TOURNEY BEGINS TOMORROW OVER OAKMONT COURSE

Louisiana Star Comes Within Stroke Of Par In Practice Round

By Dillon Graham

OAKMONT, Pa., June 26.—(AP)—The country's rah-rah golfers, pepped up to give the old college cry, go after the National Intercollegiate championship here Monday over the same course where the professionals stomped and ranted and scored ridiculously high in the national open two years ago.

The undergraduate hopefuls have been finding the 6,981-yard Oakmont Country club course just as tough as did the salaried experts.

Oakmont's long and well-bunkered par-72 hasn't even had to dodge to protect its figure from the future bachelors of arts and sciences. A couple of the boys have puffed and perspired around the layout in 73's but most of the players considered it a moral victory when they broke 80

Freddie Haas of Louisiana State and Lewis Johnson of the College of Charleston, S. C., came within a stroke of catching up with Old Man Par.

The largest field in the tournament's history—160 golfers—is registered. They represent 37 colleges and universities. Twenty-six colleges are entered in the team championship.

Yale, which won the team trophy last year, is favored again, with Georgetown, Penn State, Georgia Tech, Southern California, Princeton and Louisiana State well liked.

Charles Kocsis of Michigan, winner of the individual crown a year ago, has been graduated and a wide open battle is in prospect for the title.

The team championship is decided in the two 18-hole qualifying rounds Monday and Tuesday. Each school is allowed six players and the aggregate of the four low scores is its team total.

The 32 low scorers in the 36-hole qualifying rounds jump into match play conflict Wednesday with a pair of 18-hole rounds. The eight survivors start the first of three 36-hole matches Thursday that lead to the top.

MONKEYS DEFEAT TIGERS IN RECREATION CONTEST

The Monkeys poled out 17 hits off two hurlers to beat the Spiders 16 to 12 in a Recreation league game Friday on the Plum street diamond.

Rabun Wroten, pitching for the Monkeys, gave up 13 hits. Thomas Bass and Warren Sievers hurled for the Spiders. The catchers were Thomas Hendrix for the Monkeys, and "Butterfly" Bauman for the Spiders.

Hitting of the winning team was led by Hendrix and James Stuart, each accounting for a single and a double.

MAJOR BATSMEN ENJOY BIG WEEK

Several Sluggers Improve Averages But Medwick And Gehrig Hold Lead

NEW YORK, June 26. — (AP) — Big league batters, with their eyes on a prospective bid to the coming all-star game, turned on the heat this week, but although several climbed way up in the standings, none was able to come close to Ducky Medwick or Lou Gehrig.

Medwick, continuing one of the hottest batting paces in years, collected 13 hits in 30 chances to boost his average three points, thereby showing a .416 season mark after two months of play.

Gehrig, the Yankee clouter, hit for just under .400 for the week ended with yesterday's games and remained far out in front in the American league with a .392 mark.

Notable sluggers of the week were Charley Gehringer, Detroit's classy second-sacker, with 12 hits in 27 chances, boosting himself from eighth to third place in the American league with a .356 mark; Paul Waner, Pittsburgh's "big poison," with 14-for-29 for the week, climbing from eighth to second in the National league with .364; Jonathan Stone, Washington, who shot into the junior circuit top ten and all the way up to sixth place with .350, and the veteran Pinky Whitney, Phillies' third sacker, who climbed into the National league select set with .347.

TIGER TAKES LEAD IN FUTURITY RACE

CHICAGO, June 26.—(AP)—A brown streak of horseflesh named Tiger took the lead in the battle for the two-year-old championship of the American turf today by galloping to victory in the first running of the Washington park futurity.

The colt, purchased a year ago by Mrs. Ethel B. Mars of Chicago for $4,500, defeated Menow, coupled with Bourbon King as the entry of Hal Price Headley of Lexington, Ky., by two lengths with Bourbon King third.

The race was the richest juvenile run in America this year and had a gross value of $38,730, with $26,135 going to Mrs. Mars, owner of the famed Milky Way farm stable.

The winner, going to the post with Mountain Ridge as an entry, was a heavily played favorite, returing $5.20 to win, $2.60 to place and $2.40 to show. The place price on Menow was $2.60, with $3.20 to show.

Fifteen thousand spectators witnessed the race, which closed the 30-day Washington park meeting. The thoroughbreds start running at fashionable Arlington park on Monday.

The winner, a son of Bull Dog-Starless Moment, was ridden by Jockey Alfred Robertson. Tiger ran the six furlongs in 1:11, three seconds off the track record set by the older Silversmith.

Tiger was never headed. Racing straight and true, in contrast to his earlier showings, Tiger led around the turn, keeping Menow always safely in the rear.

WILL CONFER ON CHILD HEALTH

Meetings Scheduled For Examination Of Young Children

Announcement was made by the Ouachita Parish Health unit, Saturday, that child health conferences will be initiated in the month of July and will continue every four months thereafter. Each community sponsoring a child health conference is asked to cooperate with the P.-T. The children will be given an examination at the time and will be told when they must be returned.

Parents are asked to see that their children are given this attention for their own future well-being.

The schedule of places where conferences are planned and the time when held is as follows:

Young Women's Christian association (white children), 1 to 3 p.m. on the third Tuesday in July; True Vine church (negro), 1 to 3 p.m., fourth Tuesday in July; Sterlington school (white), 1 to 3 p.m., first Wednesday in July; Fairbanks church (white), 1 to 3 p.m., second Wednesday in July; Breard church at 10th street (negro), 1 to 3 p.m., third Wednesday in July; Bawcomville church of God (white), 1 to 3 p.m., second Thursday in July; St. Joe, Natchitoches street in West Monroe (negro), third Thursday in July; Crosley school, West Monroe (white), 1 to 3 p.m., second Friday in July; Claiborne school (white), 1 to 3 p.m., third Friday in July.

Sons Of Legion Lays Plans For Convention In Monroe

Sturdy sons of Louisiana legionnaires, determined to keep alive the traditions of their fathers who served in the World war, will hold their convention in Monroe at the same time that members of the Louisiana department of the American Legion, and the auxiliary, convene for their 19th and 17th annual sessions, respectively.

Hundreds of boys, members of the Sons of the American Legion, will come to Monroe next month. They will hold their general session July 13, the last day of the state department convention, under the leadership of LeRoy Allain, detachment commander.

The boys will be welcomed by Captain Seymour Tuey, and will be addressed by Department Commander E. L. Hawkins of the American Legion, Louisiana department; Mrs. L. J. Hulin, president of the American Legion auxiliary, Louisiana department, and other notables of both organizations.

Both the American Legion and the American Legion auxiliary have provided places on their general programs for the Sons of the American Legion. The boys will visit the opening session of the convention at the Ouachita Parish High school auditorium at 2 p.m., July 11. On the same day, which is Sunday, the boys will attend religious services.

On Monday arrangements have been completed to give the boys a boat ride, swimming party and wiener roast on the Ouachita river. This event will take place from 9 a.m. till 3 p.m. At 5 o'clock in the afternoon members of the Sons of the American Legion will form at the Ouachita Parish High school grounds to participate in the general legion parade.

The most important event of the convention is the drum and bugle corps contest, in which the Sons of the American Legion will take part. Two valuable prizes are to be given the successful corps, and bands from different sections of the state will participate. The contest will be held at Northeast Center of Louisiana State university stadium. Prizes will be awarded to the best all-round drum and bugle corps squadron as to size, drill, uniform and music. The first prize will be 20 per cent and the second prize 10 per cent of the gate receipts.

Other prizes include the Bruce Baird trophy to the winner of the contest. This trophy must be won three years in succession before the successful corps may retain it permanently; the Mrs. A. J. Sichterman trophy, to the largest squadron. This trophy must also be won three successive years in order to be retained. The Sam Rubin trophy, to the squadron with the largest percentage of increase in membership during the past year—one pair of blue-end drum sticks for the best drummer.

Two trophies which will be eagerly sought after are the J. J. Martin trophy for the best address on the subject "Why I Am a Member of the Sons of the American Legion," and the Joe Isaacman trophy for the best address on the subject "Why the Democratic Form of Government of the United States Offers Greater Opportunities to the Youth Than Any Other Form of Government in Existence."

The winner of the J. J. Martin trophy will deliver his address before the general session of the legion. Contestants will be given three minutes each to deliver their addresses.

The Joe Isaacman trophy, an annual award, consists of a $25 solid gold memorial Americanism medal.

Headquarters for the Sons of the American Legion will be at the Monroe hotel and all trips will start from the hotel.

Officials of the Sons of the American Legion include LeRoy Allain, New Orleans, detachment commander; Sidney Malbrough, Thibodaux, chairman, third district; Sam Orchard, Monroe, chairman, fifth district; Harry Cloud, Baton Rouge, chairman, sixth district; Dr. A. J. Perrault, Opelousas, chairman, seventh district; Burton Williams, Winnfield, chairman, eighth district.

RUCKER EXPLAINS AIR CONDITIONING

Many Factors Necessary For Successful Year-Round Operation

True air conditioning, according to O. M. Rucker, expert on the air conditioning staff of the Standard Office Supply company, for summer consists of air cooling, reducing amount of moisture and circulation; for winter, heating, adding of moisture and circulation. For year-round air conditioning the minimum requirements stipulate that air must be cooled and reduced in moisture content during the summer; heated, moisture added, and circulation during winter. In addition to this, most systems clean and filter the air.

"There are on the market today appliances performing one or more functions of true air conditioning, yet which do not perform the minimum necessary to merit the name 'air conditioning,'" Mr. Rucker stated.

The following terms and definitions are said by Mr. Rucker to properly explain true air conditioning:

"Air conditioning may be defined as any treatment of air to make it more suitable for some particular application. This treatment usually consists of cleaning by filtering, washing, etc.; moisture control, by humidifying, etc.; temperature control, by heating or cooling.

"Cleaning is done with dry air filters, oil filters, or by washing with spray water.

"Moisture addition is done by means of sprays of water which saturate the air at a given temperature; this is termed humidifying.

"Moisture reduction is accomplished by reducing the temperature of the air below the saturation point. This is termed de-humidifying."

Mr. Rucker further explained that air conditioning temperatures are usually expressed in degrees Fahrenheit. Dry bulb temperature is the temperature indicated on an ordinary thermometer; wet bulb temperature is the temperature indicated on a thermometer having a wet sack tied on the bulb. When this wet bulb thermometer is swung rapidly through the air the rate of evaporation of the moisture determines the percentage of moisture content. The amount of moisture is termed the relative humidity.

"Wet bulb depression," Mr. Rucker explained, "is the number of degrees difference between the wet bulb and dry bulb readings.

"Effective temperature is the resultant temperature 'sensation' produced on the human body by various combinations of wet, dry bulb and air motion."

Mr. Rucker invites the public to call at the office of the Standard Office Supply Co., on St. John street, where he will gladly answer all questions in connection with air conditioning.

EXECUTIVE GIVES TIPS ON TOURING

Chevrolet Service Director Contributes Timely Article For Motorists

By C. W. Wood
National Director of Service
Chevrolet Motor Division
General Motors Sales Corporation

Mile for mile, motor cars require less attention from their users today than ever before. This is explained partly by the increased reliability of the product, and partly, no doubt, by the fact that motorists are becoming educated in the simple routine procedure which keeps their automobiles near peak efficiency all the time.

With summer at had, and hundreds of thousands of owners planning vacation trips in their cars, a few suggestions about preparation for such journeys will be timely. An extended trip makes more strenuous demands of an automobile than does normal use around home, and it is only sensible, when planning such a trip, to see that every detail affecting performance, safety and comfort is checked in advance.

After a winter's driving, it is always advisable to see that the cooling system is in shape for maximum warm weather efficiency. If this has been neglected up to now, it should be attended to before that summer trip. The result will be a cooler engine, longer life frfom lubricating oil, and generally improved performance. Water should be checked occasionallly during the journey, too, of course.

Assuming that transmission and differential lubricants have been changed to the proper grade for summer driving, the levels of both should be checeked before the start of a long journey. So should the oil in the crankcase, which, of course, should also be changed at the intervals recommended by the manufacturer.

The solution in an automobile battery evaporates more rapidly in warm weather than in cold, and the short time it takes to have this detail checked, and water added if necessary, is always well invested.

The average motorist thinks about tires only when he has a "flat." A little extra attention to the subject will not only reduce tire troubles to a minimum, but add considerably to the comfort of riding and the ease of driving. Cars steer more easily when the tires are inflated to the proper pressure, and it is especially important that the pressure in the left and the right be the same.

For complete comfort in motoring, tires should be checked now and then during a journey. Protracted driving on hot pavements in summer may expand the air to a point where the ride becomes bumpy because the tires are so hard. On the other hand, tires with insufficient air wear out rapidly, because of the constant flexing of the casing near the point of contact with the ground. They are also more likely to suffer rim-cuts traversing rough roads.

Today's cars rarely develop any serious trouble, even on extended journeys. But a succession of minor annoyances, easily averted by a little advance preparation, have often marred an otherwise perfect trip. The vacationist who looks after these details as a matter of routine is taking out good insurance on the success of his trip.

PLYMOUTH HAS ECONOMY DEVICE

Equipment Which Gives Fuel Saving Up To 30 Per Cent Now Available

DETROIT, June 26.—(Special)—Special "economy equipment" capable of fuel savings as high as 30 per cent is now available as optional equipment for all 1937 model Plymouth cars, the factory announced this week.

Plymouth's economy apparatus, which scores still further gains in a notable economy record established by standard models, is of the type described in an enthusiastic report of fleet operators before a recent session of the society of automotive engineers.

As offered by Plymouth, both for fleet operators and the general public of economy-minded motorists, the special apparatus is available in two different groups, depending on the nature of the terrain where the car is to be used.

The so-called economy group No. 1 consists of a special carburetor, a special intake manifold and a rear axle gear ratio of 3.7 to 1. This group alone effects an average economy increase of 15 to 20 per cent, and is now available as production equipment on special order at no additional charge.

For use in flatter country, where a minimum of hill-climbing can be expected, economy group No. 2 includes all the features of Group No. 1 plus a hardened steel throttle-stop and manifold heatshields. With the No. 2 set of attachments economy may be increased from 25 to 30 per cent. For this group the factory makes an additional charge of $3.75.

"The trend of motor vehicle design," according to Harry G. Moock, Plymouth sales vice-president, "has been guided in recent years by the public's demand for higher speeds and for better performance. But along with the reputation for performance, Plymouth also has built up an enviable record of economical operation, based on sound engineering.

"However, economies that are satisfactory for the privately owned car are usually insufficient for fleet owners with many vehicles and high yearly mileages. These experts were first to recognize the importance of the new-type economy attachments, in terms of lower operating costs, and they lost no time in making exhaustive studies of results obtained with such equipment. For those owners who are willing to make slight sacrifices in acceleration and top speed, this special economy equipment offers marked gains in general operating economy."

What fleet operators have learned about possible savings with equipment of the new type was indicated in a recent report to the Society of Automotive Engineers.

"Our companies operate more than 900 vehicles equipped with such apparatus," said one public utility fleet operator, "and find it has done more to influence the economy of our fleet than any other item.

"The purpose in putting throttle stops on our cars was primarily to increase our gasoline mileage. This they did, to the extent of some 30 per cent. But that proved to be only the beginning. Records show that tires last from 25 to 50 per cent longer, that we use less oil, that road failures and accidents have been practically eliminated, and that maintenance, particularly on the engine, has been reduced.

"A difference in cost of operation of one-tenth of a cent per mile may only mean a difference of about 10 cents to the driver who takes the family out for a 100-mile ride on Sunday. That's only the price of a cigar and therefore, passes almost unnoticed by the owner.

"But to a fleet owner whose fleet operates 20,000,000 miles per year, a difference of one-tenth of a cent per mile means $20,000. For a small fleet that travels only 1,000,000 miles per year, every tenth of a cent per mile means $1,000 in the yearly cost of operation."

In measuring time on earth, we have several natural units. One is the time required by the earth to turn on its axis, or the day. Another is the time the earth takes to travel around the sun, or the year, and a third is the time between successive appearances of the moon in the same phase, or the month.

NEW YORK STOCKS

By Victor Eubank

NEW YORK, June 26.—(AP)—Steel and rail shares were at the fore of a slow downward movement in the stock market today, with leaders off fractions to more than a point.

A more unfavorable outlook in the Mediterranean crisis, plus uncertainty over steel strike developments kept traders out of the market.

While industrial news was not dismal, no positive factors were in evidence to bring out buying support.

The pace was slow and toward the finish most prices were near their lows for the day.

All divisions shared in the downturn. Motors, oils, metals and specialties suffered fron the general lack of interest. Some of the carriers were at new lows for the year.

Transfers approximated 250,000 shares.

Commodities were uneven and bonds, with the exception of some South American issues, were irregularly lower.

Bottom marks for the year were hit by Northern Pacific, New York Central and Pennsylvania railroad.

Other conspicuous losers were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet and Tube, Chrysler, Allis Chalmers, Boeing, Douglas Aircraft, American Telephone, Western Union, Consolidated Edison, Anaconda Copper, Kennecott, Cerro De Pasco, American Smelting, Westinghouse, General Electric, du Pont, Allied Chemical, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Santa Fe, Southern Railway, Southern Pacific, Great Northern preferred and Woolworth.

Down to a lesser extent were Goodyear, Goodrich, Electric Power and Light and International Nickel.

Rails continued their slide of yesterday to the surprise of some observers who considered reported sagging May net income had been already discounted. Apparently, they said increased carloadings and prospects of better gross through heavy crop shipments had been disregarded in view of higher operating costs.

Steels were more resistant but they too followed the slipping tendency. Traders felt developments in the strike area were too nebulous upon which to base market opinion at the moment and support was lacking in any volume.

UNFURNISHED UPSTAIRS DUPLE

BOY SCOUTS TO GO TO JAMBOREE

Local Lads Will Leave Tonight For Washington To Attend Encampment

Forty-nine Boy Scouts of the various troops of the Ouachita Valley council will leave Monroe in special coaches, tonight at 9:30 p.m. over the Missouri Pacific railroad en route to Washington, D. C., to attend the first National Boy Scout jamboree that will be held there from June 30 to July 9.

Scoutmasters Father M. R. Gremillion, Tom Wafer and Fletcher Ashcraft will accompany the boys to Washington.

The patrol leaders and their assistants, the scribes, and the senior patrol leader, were chosen Saturday morning. Careful consideration of the leadership ability of a number of boys in camp was given. The leaders announced arrangements which were said to be only tentative and will depend on the activities of the boys as leaders.

Mack McInnis, Sterlington, an eagle scout, was named senior patrol leader. Patrol leaders chosen were: Bruce Tyner, Tallulah; Floyd Stone, Monroe; Percy Benjamin, Tallulah; Thomas Rushing, Rayville; Oliver Scarborough, Ferriday; and Mike Devereaux, Monroe. Tim Henninger, Monroe and Sully Barnes, Farmerville, were chosen as scribes.

The Ouachita valley contingent will be encamped in section "K," as jamboree troop No. 24, of Region No. 5. The troop is composed of four patrols of eight members each and one senior patrol leader.

Information received stated that there will be 25,000 boys with 1,000 leaders in the camp at Washington. Four thousand tents will be required to accommodate them. There will be a hospital under United States navy supervision and the sanitation will be directed by the United States army.

The encampment ground has 350 acres and is located one-half mile from the Lincoln memorial. Scouts are attending the jamboree at the personal invitation of President Roosevelt, himself an active scout leader for the past 15 years.

Activities will include a mammoth camp fire on the opening night, a visit and review by the president, a convocation on July 4 at the foot of the Washington monument, and a boat ride down the historic Potomac river to Mount Vernon.

Each delegation to the jamboree will stage exhibits and demontsrations of historic and geographi points for which their home communities are famed. In addition, there will be fireworks on land and water, a sea scout regatta, a world brotherhood display, and an elaborate closing ceremony.

The "Jamboree city" will be supplied with a million gallons of water daily through a privately-constructed water supply system. The city also will be served by 20,000 feet of sewage disposal lines, a 15-trunk phone system, kitchens that can serve 75,000 meals daily and a 16-page daily newspaper. A theater capable of seating 12,000 is provided for.

Scouts from 24 other nations will attend. Countries abroad that will be represented will be: England, France, Rumania, Sweden, Denmark, Ireland, Scotland, Australia, Indian, Chile, Venezuela, Mexico, Canada, Guatemala, Belgium and the Union of South Africa.

Clay Hills Of Georgia May Again Be Mined For Gold

Government May Furnish Money For New Operations At Dahlonega

DAHLONEGA, Ga., June 26.—(AP)—The clay hills that gave practical experience to many California '49ers again echo to the call of "Gold."

Recent appearance here of mining investigators for the Reconstruction Finance corporation led to speculation that government money may flow back to the gold fields in loans for new operations.

Pick and shovel prospectors are busy in several parts of the north Georgia Blue Ridge.

This town was founded on gold (the name Dahlonega is from the Cherokee Indian word for the metal). Residents see possibilities of another boom.

One of the earliest gold seekers in Georgia was Hernando DeSoto. In 1540 that intrepid Spaniard trekked through the mountains, leaving traces of his pilgrimage. He found no gold.

Nearly 300 years later (1828) white men first unearthed the precious metal and started the "rush" that resulted in the building of a government mint here in 1838.

State Geologist Richard W. Smith says the rich placer deposits were in the Cherokee nation territory. The governor tried to prevent ravaging of the Indian land by sending in troops. Smith said some of the troops remained to do mining on their own.

The mint turned to 1,381,784 gold coins, worth $6,115,569, before the war between the states closed it.

Hydraulic mining developed here in the '70s and '80s, when hardy southerners were loath to leave untried any means for regaining their war-lost wealth. This type is still used, with some hard rock mining, to turn out small quantities of the yellow metal.

The real hard rock mining went into a decline in the 1840s. When the bearded miners heard the coast-to-coast cry of gold in California they deserted the Georgia "diggings" and added their practical knowledge to the new western operations.

One man tried to stop that mass exodus. He was a young geologist named Stephenson. At a mass meeting called to form a California-bound party, he cried:

"Why go to California? In that ridge lies more gold than man ever dreamt of. There's millions in it."

Oldsters here repeat that with gleaming eyes.

STRAHAN RETURNS

E. R. Strahan, Ouachita parish agricultural agent, Saturday returned to Monroe from Baton Rouge where he attended the extension course at Louisiana State university. Mr. Strahan was absent from the city for three weeks.

BERNSTEIN PARK IS ILLUMINATED

New Improvements Make Recreation Spot A Favored Gathering Place

Completion of improvements, including a comprehensive lighting system, shelter house and barbecue pits at Bernstein Park, promise to make that recreation center one of the most favored play spots in Monroe, according to a report made public Saturday by Commissioner of Streets and Parks C. R. Tidwell.

Current for the illuminations from flood lights and festoons of wired lights erected at strategic points among the moss-hung trees, was first turned on Friday night and transformed the park area into a "veritable bower of brilliant beauty," in the words of recreation leaders who were present for the inaugural show.

Several barbecue pits, varying in size to accommodate small picnic groups or large gatherings, have been installed to meet the public demand for these facilities, Commissioner Tidwell said. Other improvements include a commodious shelter house, benches and tables for picnic parties.

"These improvements have been made with negligible expense," the commissioner stated. "Virtually all the material used in installing the lighting system and the barbecue pits was salvaged from the old car barns at Forsythe park and from the old natatorium. The flood lights which formerly did service at the swimming pool are now in use at Bernstein park, while brick and other material from the car barns went into making the barbecue pits. The work was all done by the regular staff at the park, under direction of the superintendent, George H. Lowery."

The roof of the shelter house is constructed of tile that came from the old city market building which for many years served the community at the corner of DeSiard and Hall streets. The brick floor of the shelter house came from some of original brick paving on DeSiard street.

The commissioner stated that mosquito control work has virtually eliminated these insects from the entire park. A drinking fountain supplied from a deep well in the park is now installed, and two additional fountains are in process of installation.

Other improvements contemplated include the erection of play swings and teeter-boards for the use of children.

The park in recent months has become a favorite gathering place because of its wealth of trees and its typically southern scenic aspects. The park is the site of the municipal zoo, which itself offers an attraction for hundreds of visitors, especially on Sunday. One of the features of the park is its bird sanctuary, which harbors numberless feathered songsters. The sanctuary covers about nine acres, left in a wild state where birds are allowed to nest unmolested. Trails are to be made through the jungle-like growth to permit public access to the place.

Plans are being made by Superintendent Lowery to mark the trees in the bird sanctuary with their botanical and common names, so that persons interested may be aided in their study of arboriculture.

BAPTISTS WILL GO TO CAMP THIS WEEK

The annual Baptist encampment at Olla will open Tuesday and close Thursday, July 8, providing 10 days of outing mingled with instruction.

Many young people are expected to attend from cities and towns of northeast Louisiana. Monroe and West Monroe are expected to be well represented.

The theme of the encampment will be "Magnifying Christ," and all departments will be under competent instructors. Officers are: Rev. L. T. Hastings, president; Dr. C. B. Land, vice-president; Rev. Herbert Johnson, second vice-president; Rev. E. M. Daffin, secretary; B. E. Zeagler, treasurer. Guest speakers will be Dr. E. D. Head, First Baptist church, Houston, Tex., Bible exponent and quiet hour; Dr. J. D. Grey, First Baptist church, New Orleans, evangelism; Dr. T. W. Gayer, Texas, church problems; and Ira C. Prosser, Shawnee, Okla., music.

Summer Days Like A Golden Chain Link Activities Of Society In Monroe

Many June Brides On Honeymoon Trips

Corn Roasts Popular; Garden Party At Harper Home Proves One Of Month's Most Successful

By Eve Bradford

Summer's thread of all-sustaining beauty now runs like a golden chain through all our days. Green pastures—still waters. How lovely all the gentle places of life. The simple, friendly pleasures—the things that cost no money, need no battle. How well Lowell expressed it when he said "'Tis heaven alone that is given away, 'tis only God may be had for the asking; no price is set on the lavish summer; June may be had by the poorest comer."

The wholesome, worthwhile things, that can be had for the taking are now engaging the attention of society. All the June brides, like the Arabs, have silently slipped away, taking with them the hectic round of compliments always showered upon popular brides-to-be.

Roasting corn in glowing embers on a glistening sand bar far up the river has suddenly leaped into popularity since Gay Noe first introduced it. Unless you have buried your teeth in the succulent kernels of a roasting ear, hot from the ashes and oozing butter, your life is not yet complete. People along the eastern coast know nothing of barbecues, but they do know that corn roasts are something to live for and southerners now agree with them.

The garden party that Judge and Vivian Harper had for last weeks' bride and groom, Doris Beaman and Luther Vaughan, was a fresh departure from the more or less formal affairs that kept Doris hopping along on winged feet from one elaborate affair to another. The flowering mimosa in the Harper gardens, always a signal for al fresco affairs, was a mass of shimmering gold in the moonlight. By the way, the most beautiful moon you ever gazed upon was turned on for Bill's and Vivian's benefit that night. A few older heads discovered that life is not over at 40 and became infected with the magic of the moon. Conviviality was the keynote of this affair that turned out to be something very special. Doris vowed that the food was prepared by the gods. You can always trust Bill and Vivian to whip up a bit of sparkle whenever they are hosts.

And now for just one last word about that wedding gown of Doris. It was the peak of romance—the kind of a gown to be packed away in rose petals and just what a southern belle, like Doris, would select. Yards of bridal satin were used in the full skirt hanging from a slender waistline. The puffed sleeves at the shoulders and the tight basque might have been copied from a by-gone age. Sentimental to her finger tips, Doris, wore the diamond brooch her father gave her mother on their marriage day and during the ceremony she thrilled to the same music that thrilled her parents when they commenced the long walk of life together.

Brides and bridegrooms have found in Frank Breese the one perfect wedding attendant. There is no fumbling nervously in waistcoat pocket for the ring and there is no halting of steps when he walks down the aisle. We wonder if his sang froid will desert him when he syncronizes with Lohengrin on his own wedding day. Frank's breakfast party for the Beaman-Vaughan wedding party was really something to talk about and will vibrate in the memory of Doris and Luther years to come.

However strong the allure of the "open spaces" may be, society will be out in force for the wedding of Joy Steele August 3, at the Presbyterian church. Simplicity, plus elegance, will be the keynote of this morning wedding.

Beautiful maturity is as wonderful in its way as shining youth. We have in mind Ed Seymour's lovely mother, who is here from south Louisiana caring for Edward, Jr., during his parents' absence in Europe. She is of the French type with sparkling brown eyes and a wealth of personal magnetism which her son has inherited. Her days are filled with charming compliments arranged by friends in Monroe who simply yearn for her companionship, so joyous and happy and friendly is she.

Ed and Louise traveling in France are experiencing many thrills and especially that of trying out their French on the natives. The French of south Louisiana differ greatly, so they write home. Louise, with her flower-like face and Dresden features, is a new type to those fire-eating Frenchmen—they evidently like it, as she was invited to ride on one of the floats during the flower festival that took place while they were in Nice. Interesting also is the menu card sent from a famous restaurant in Paris to a Monroe chef with the order to carry it out verbatim when the Rotarians meet for their next luncheon. Imagine the club members' chagrin when they find every-day food appearing under a French name!

When we speak of beautiful maturity we also have in mind Mrs. A. R. Holloway's mother. There is an aurora of shining youthfulness about her the years will never dim. And is Robert proud of her! You have only to see them together to discover his devotion. We learned just yesterday that Robert is off for Washington, where he will enter the American University of Public Affairs. Only five men with college degrees are selected each year to enter this school, and it fell to Robert's lot to be the one of the five. Quite a feather in his cap, to our way of thinking.

We doff our hats today to Eileen MacKinnon, whose knowledge of first aid saved the life of youthful Ann Braun, who was floating on the surface of the McHenry pool, apparently lifeless. Unable to swim, Ann went beyond her depth. She was discovered by Eileen, who resuscitated her before the firemen arrived with the pulmotor.

Antique jewelry is most intriguing. India Stubbs was wearing a superb amythest chain and brooch at the Beaman-Vaughan wedding the other night. Upon inquiry, we found out that it belonged to her mother and her mother before her.

Sam Rubin, off for Europe last week, is an authority on antiques. When in doubt everyone goes to Mr. Rubin, who can give accurate information. While traveling in the old world Mr. Rubin will make a comprehensive study of antiques and steep his soul in the beauty of jewels and their origin, thus gratifying a lifelong desire.

Bride-To-Be Feted At Oak Grove

A beautiful affair of the week was a morning coffee given by Mrs. Mary Thompson, Mrs. J. T. Williams and Miss Sue Williams honoring Miss Elaine Briggs, an attractive bride-elect, whose marriage to Dr. Kenneth S. Flemming of Youngstown, O., solemnized at 10 o'clock Thursday morning, June 24, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Briggs, Oak Grove, La.

At the entrance of the living room the guests were received by Mrs. J. L. Wall of Eudora, Ark., cousin of the honoree, and Mrs. Thompson and Mrs. Williams, assisted by Misses Sue Williams, Alene Holland, Francis Briggs and Elaine Briggs. All wore attractive morning frocks. Miss Briggs wore a white model trimmed in navy imported crepe with a matching blue and white crownless turban.

Each guest registered in a bridal book, presided over by Miss Valerie McIntosh. The book was presented to Miss Briggs later.

In the dining room the table was over laid with imported lace cloth, centered with a crystal bowl of calendula. Presiding at the table Mrs. Charles H. Neely. Misses Maude Emily Chapman and Marion Reeves served delicious sweets and open faced sandwiches from silver trays.

The reception rooms were beautifully decorated with flowers arranged in tall white wicker baskets.

Suggestive of the approaching nuptial event was the improvised altar before which was placed a miniature bride and bride-groom in full wedding regalia.

Sixty-five guests called during the receiving hours.

The interest of friends is centered in the announcement of the marriage of Miss Virgie Turner of Winnsboro, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Turner of Elizabeth, La., to Mr. Ray Trammell of Myrtle Grove, son of Mr. L. L. Trammell and the late Mrs. Trammell of Elizabeth, La.

The wedding ceremony was performed in Gulfport, Miss., June 14. Rev. W. L. Power of the First Methodist church in Gulfport performed the ceremony.

For the past year Mrs. Trammell has been associated with the Rogers Clinic in Winnsboro. Mr. Trammell holds a responsible position with the Henderson Oil company.

Miss Mary Ann Wilds has returned from Fort Smith, Ark., where she was delightfully entertained during the Delta Sigma convention. Miss Wilds, sponsor for the local chapter, was showered with compliments, being selected "sweetheart" of the convention. Delegates attending the convention from the local chapter were T. J. Hunt, Harry Underwood and Jay Garrett.

Mrs. C. C. Stegall of Winnsboro announces the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Bonnie, to Mr. Clark T. Browning, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Browning of Atlanta, Ga. The wedding will take place on July 17.

Mr. Clark has attended Georgia Tech and is now associated with the Delta Air Line in Atlanta.

DEBUTING IN STYLE

Roberta Jonay captivated President and Mrs. Roosevelt with her dancing so much that she lived at the White House as their guest while she appeared at a Washington hotel. Now "Broadway" will get a chance to applaud her. And she's making sure that her debut at the Waldorf-Astoria will leave nothing to be desired sartorially, either. The young dancer above is being fitted with her new gown, a white organdy picture dress trimmed with bugle beads and tiny pink ribbon bows.

Roosevelt, Bride-To-Be Lease 'Dream' Cottage

Ivy-Covered, Colonial Dwelling Will Be Home While Bridegroom Attends Classes

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., June 26.—(AP)—The sort of honeymoon cottage that brides dream about in June, or in any other month—that's the home that Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., and Miss Ethel duPont have leased for the first three years of their married life while he is studying law at the University of Virginia.

Its a two-story colonial cottage of old red brick painted white, with extra large and wide dormer windows. It's complete even to the ivy song writers like to include.

There is a large living room, a study, dining room, kitchen and pantry on the first floor, and three bed rooms, two baths and an abundance of roomy closets above. Outside, but connected with the home, there's a maid's room and bath over a double garage.

The young couple, whose wedding will be at Wilmington next week, will not be the first bride and groom to move into the house for their first married year. It has just been vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lyon Polk, Jr., or New York, who had it for three sessions. They gave it up last week when Mr. Polk was graduated in law, second in his class. He has gone to New York to practice law where his father, once assistant secretary of state under Woodrow Wilson, is in partnership with John W. Davis.

Earlier in the spring, when young Franklin Roosevelt came to apply for admission to the law school, his fiancee was with him. They were for several days the guests of the Polks, and they were so pleased with the house in which they visited that the three-year lease was arranged.

The cottage is empty now. In a few weeks decorators will start preparations for the bride and groom who will take possession in September.

The cottage is on Fendall avenue, about a mile from Clark Memorial hall where young Roosevelt will attend classes. It faces westward, to the rugged mountains and the Blue Ridge beyond. Its gently graded lawn, in one end of which its former occupants had their badminton court, is planted with linden and ash trees, with box and arbor vitae.

Inside there's an entrance hall, opening on the large living room on the right and the smaller study on the left, with built-in cases large enough for law books, on either side of a broad window. The living room extends the full length of the south side of the house—15 by 25 feet. It has an open fireplace, and doors that open eastward upon a flagstone terrace where iris and lillies are blooming.

The dining room opens off the living room and has windows facing east. A kitchen pantry connects it with a modernly equipped kitchen. Through the pantry is the entrance to the garage and the servants quarters above it.

The master bedroom is 15 by 18 feet, and has spacious windows to catch the morning sun through the poplars and ash behind the house. This connects with a dressing room which opened on an upstairs hall and on a private bath. The middle upper room used until recently as the nursery for two-year-old Frank Polk III, its walls have been tinted pink but all the others are in antique, oyster-white plaster.

There is another guest room upstairs, and an extra bath. The bride is sure to be delighted with the six commodious closets, two of them cedar lined—one for garments, one for blankets.

All of the windows, upstairs and down, are unusually large and will admit an abundance of Virginia sunshine which young Roosevelt hopes will ward off a recurring attack of sinus infection.

Rodney J. Hobbs Auxiliary Meets

The ladies auxiliary to the Rodney J. Hobbs post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, held their regular meeting Thursday night at the club rooms on DeSiard street, with 21 members present. President Lena M. Morrow presided and welcomed as visitors from the auxiliary to Boone-McDowell post, Bastrop, President-elect Felicia Lynch, Mrs. Cara Hood, Mrs. Lucille Westbrook, Mrs. Irma Alexander, Mrs. Mae Boone Arant, Mrs. Vera M. Johnston, Mrs. Sweetie Little, Mrs. Lilla Cain, and Mrs. Maylor Harrison. By authority of the department president, Mrs. Lynch, Mrs. Lilla Cain and Mrs. Johnston were installed respectively, as president, senior vice-president and trustee of the Bastrop auxiliary. President Morrow acted as installing officer.

Reports were made by hospital, national home fund and welfare chairmen. President Morrow expressed herself as well pleased with the work done by the auxiliary since the last encampment, this year being one of the most outstanding since the organization of the auxiliary.

Mrs. Mildred Duggan, department hospital chairman, reported that beautiful roses and the usual gift of tobacco had been given to the patients at the veterans' hospital at Alexandria on Memorial day. Another treat planned for the veterans was the program by a well known radio star, "Louisiana Lou," on June 16. Each patient confined to his bed was contacted and a 30-minute program given in the hut for the other patients. "Louisiana Lou," being a member of the drill team of the department of Iowa, and much interested in work of this sort, donates her time and makes these trips at her own expense. The department feels grateful to this entertainer for her splendid work among the disabled veterans.

Next meeting of auxiliary will be held Thursday night, July 9.

Miss Deloney Marries Roderick C. Duchesne

Double Ring Ceremony Conducted In Gardens Of Residence At Ruston

The interest of friends throughout this section of the state is centered in the marriage of Miss Carrie Irene Delony, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Delony of Ruston, and Mr. Roderick C. Duchesne of Baskin, La., son of Mrs. S. C. Duchesne and the late Mr. Duchesne, Saturday, June 19, in the gardens of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Delony's home in Ruston.

The impressive double ring ceremony was performed at the twilight hour by Rev. S. E. McFadden, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, in the presence of a large concourse of friends and relatives.

The garden offered an idyllic setting for this event, attended by much beauty of detail. The setting sun cast fantastic shadows on the lawn where the guests stood near an improvised altar hedged in with baskets of pink and blue hydrangea.

Miss Elizabeth Parham, wearing a blue mousseline model, sang "I Love You Truly," accompanied by Mrs. Harvey Nelson, pianist, and Mr. Nelson, violinist.

The flower girl, Joyce Lee Delony, niece of the bride, wore a pastel blue princess model over blue taffeta with a circle of pink roses in her hair. She carried a French blue basket filled with rose petals.

During the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Nelson played "The Indian Love Call."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a handsome white princess lace model over white taffeta. A Marie Antoinette lace collar framed the face. The sleeves, puffed at the shoulder, were long and tight fitting. The veil of tulle was caught to the hair with a coronet of orange blossoms. A beautiful arm bouquet of bride's roses and valley lilies was carried. The bride's train was carried by her nephew, James Elmer Delony, who wore white linens in harmony with the bridegroom and his attendants. Mr. L. C. Duchesne of Newellton, uncle of the bridegroom, served as best man. The groomsmen were: Mesars. Chester Smith, Quintin McLemore, J. W. McLemore, Jr., of Winnsboro, and M. L. Delony of Hilly, La.

An informal reception followed the ceremony and the wedding cake, centering a beautifully appointed, lace-covered table, was cut by the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Duchesne are spending their honeymoon in Ozarks and upon their return will be at home in Mt. Pleasant, Tex., where Mr. Duchesne, a graduate of Louisiana Tech, is associated with the Soil Conservation service.

Mrs. Duchesne attended L. P. I. at Ruston and for the past several years has been teaching home economics in the Delhi High school.

Three Attractive Visitors Entertained

Delightfully cool looking and refreshing was the luncheon table at the Lotus club on Friday presided over by Misses Lallage and Gertrude Feazel who entertained for three attractive visitors in the city, Miss Sara Marie Batten of Oklahoma City, Miss Marie Doas of Tuscaloosa, Ala., and Miss Charlene Taylor of New Orleans.

Pink Columbia roses were banked in artistic profusion for central decor. The pink theme was accentuated in the favors, pink gardenias, placed at each cover.

A delicious four-course luncheon was served to Miss Batten, Miss Deas, Miss Taylor, Miss Sue Kilgore, Miss Dorothy Guerriero, Mrs. William Guerriero, Miss Elizabeth Williams, and the hostesses.

Judge and Mrs. William M. Harper are making plans for the entertainment of an interesting guest from "Down Under," which is the quaint way we have of describing that section of the Antipodes which we call Australasia. Miss Dorothy Neal, of Christchurch, New Zealand, will arrive in Monroe about July 1 on her first visit to Louisiana. She will be a guest in the hospitable home of Judge and Mrs. Harper for a week, and then, in company with Mrs. Harper, will make a tour of the state. For the past year Miss Neal has been studying at Carnegie institute, Pittsburgh, Pa., having been awarded a scholarship at the seat of learning for her work in library science. She is a member of the public library staff in her home city of Christchurch. Many friends of Judge and Mrs. Harper are looking forward to the pleasure of meeting Miss Neal.

Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Price announce the arrival of a daughter, Claudia, at St. Francis sanitarium on June 18. The maternal grandparents are Mr and Mrs. Sid Mahundro and the paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs E. L. Price. Mrs. Price will be remembered as Miss Gladys Mahundro

Miss Doris Eugenia Beaman Becomes Bride Of Dr. Luther Matthews Vaughan

Brilliant Ceremony At Virginia Hotel

Young Couple Leave For Trip To Mexico City On Honeymoon Following Reception

All the pristine beauty, the romance and the glory that is June was reflected in the wedding of Miss Doris Eugenia Beaman, lovely young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy R. Beaman of this city, and Dr. Luther Matthews Vaughan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Vaughan of Clinton, Ky., on the twenty-second of June at eight o'clock in the evening.

The marriage was solemnized on the Hotel Virginia roof garden, drenched in moonlight and fragrant with the scent of many flowers. The cool, night wind swept across the terrace and stirred the flocks of daisies overflowing from tall white wicker floor baskets alternating with white candelabra supporting white cathedral tapers, down the full length of the garden and forming a candlelit aisle for the bride and her attendants.

An improvised altar, hedged in with woodwardia ferns, palms and shrubbery accentuated the garden theme. Cathedral tapers, burning in seven branched candelabra in pyramid formation, created an atmosphere of sanctity. Sheaves of white daisies were massed in the background and overflowed from white pedestal baskets flanking the white linen covered dais. In the background a silver light gleamed through the southern smilax hanging in festoons from the vaulted lattice work.

At the appointed hour the white carpet was spread along the aisle and a pre-nuptial concert was rendered by Miss Carolyn Stubbs, pianist, and Miss Eileen MacKinnon, violinist. Miss Nellie Breards high, flute-like soprano, was heard to splendid advantage in "At Dawning" and "I Love You Truly." During the ceremony "All For You," was rendered. This number was featured at the wedding of the bride's parents.

The groomsmen in white linens with boutonnieres of valley lilies, walked down the aisle to the accompaniment of Lohengrin's wedding march. They were: Messrs. Robert Holloway, Vernon LaCour, Frank Breese and Fay Hilliard. Dr. Vaughan and his best man, Dr. Oswald Cosby, awaited at the altar with Father John Marsh, who officiated during the ceremony.

The bridesmaids, Miss Joy Steele, Mrs. Vernon LaCour, Mrs. Eldredge Carroll, and Miss Dorothy Wilson of LaCenter, Ky., and the junior bridesmaid, Miss Rosanne Reid, cousin of the bride, wore diaphanous gowns of water-lily green marquisette over taffeta. They were fashioned with long full skirts with inserts of wide lace of the same color. Smart little waist length jackets with short puffed sleeves banded in lace were worn. Chaplets of daisies caught to shoulder length veils of green tulle formed the deaddress. They all carried gorgeous bouquets of pink peonies, tied with azure blue satin ribbons.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Fay Hilliard, of Houston, sister of the bride, and the maid of honor, Miss Katheryn White, wore dawn pink marquisette gowns exact replicas of those worn by the bridesmaids. They also wore chaplets of daisies and carried arm bouquets of deep pink peonies.

The flower girl, Billie Harper, beautiful little blonde daughter of Judge and Mrs. William Harper, walked down the aisle in water-lily green marquisette, a perfect copy of the gowns worn by the maids.

The ringbearer, Charles Reid, Jr., cousin of the bride, wore white linens.

The mothers of the high contracting parties were escorted to the seats reserved for members of the family. Mrs. Beaman wore a turquoise blue mousseline and lace model with orchid corsage. Mrs. Vaughan wore a black chiffon and lace model with orchids. Mrs. Charles Reid, aunt of the bride, wore a beautiful pink lace model with pink rose corsage.

The bride, tall and slender and the very essence of grace, walked down the candlelit, flower strewn aisle on th arm of her father. She wore the traditional white satin wedding gown preferred by brides since time immemorial. The V neckline was appliqued in pearls with the pearl trimming outlining the sleeves, puffed at the shoulders and terminating in deep points over the hands. The full, close fitting skirt, fell in long graceful folds ending in a court train. A cap of rose point lace and valley lilies was caught to the billowy veil of illusion cascading over the shoulder and falling far beyond the hem line of the gown. For something old she wore the handsome diamond brooch worn by her mother on her wedding day. The exotic bouquet of orchids, valley lilies and bride's roses nestling in the hollow of her arm, created the last touch of distinction.

The bridal pair knelt for the blessing on a white satin prie-dieu.

A reception following the ceremony permitted the guests to congratulate the bridegroom and extend their well wishes to the bride. The entire wedding party including, Mr. and Mrs. Beaman and Mr. and Mrs. Vaughan, stood in a southern bamboo entwined alcove to receive.

The cutting of the wedding cake by the bride was a beautiful ceremony. The cake was rather superb with two tiers surmounted with a spray of brides roses. Valley lilies encircled the base and outlined the edge of the lace covered table. White tapers in silver candelabra burned at the four corners.

Ices, individual wedding cakes and flower mints were passed by white clad attendants during the receiving hours.

The bride changed her wedding gown for a smart navy blue, triple sheer model with a graceful knee length cape and all accessories of blue. An orchid corsage was worn at the neckline.

Dr. and Mrs. Vaughan are spending their honeymoon in Mexico and upon their return will be at home at 5015 Montrose boulevard, Houston, Tex., where Dr. Vaughan is a staff member of the Memorial hospital. He is a graduate of Tulane medical school and the University of Kentucky. Dr. Vaughan is a member of Alpha Tau Omega, and Alpha Kappa Kappa fraternities.

For the past year he has interned at the Shreveport Charity hospital.

The bride, a beautiful, vivid and vivacious person, has had all the possible advantages in the way of schooling. She attended Rice institute in Houston and was graduated from Sophie Newcomb college, New Orleans. She is a member of Delta Beta Sigma and Alpha Delta Pi sororities. She will be on familiar ground when she returns to Houston to reside, as she was born in that city, having come later with her parents to this city where she has resided since early girlhood. Her exceeding popularity was manifested in the avalanche of pre-nuptial affairs dating from the day her engagement was announced until her wedding day. The number of beautiful gifts—silver, Haviland, crystal, linens and substantial checks showered upon this young couple testified to their great popularity.

CHAPTER XX

For the first few moments following Sybil's announcement, Joan wanted to get up and run from the house. He, heart died within her breast, and she prayed that a bolt from the sky might kill her, too. Yet she managed to hold herself terribly calm, as if these were her last minutes on earth, and she had to go out with dignity.

Somewhere in the blue and ivory living room, a clock ticked off the seconds, and Joan knew a frantic hope that it might be too late for Sybil to tell the story with adequate emphasis. She would not want it to lose its effectiveness upon Bob by rushing through it. Joan felt that she could bear anything rather than see the look in his eyes when he heard it.

If only he might get on the train to Washington first . . .

At the moment, however, he was mildly curious.

"So Philip is in San Francisco," he remarked. "He seems to have a pretty wide territory for his survey. What's the gossip, Sybil?"

Sybil laughed with delight. "Oh, I can't tell you, Bob," she said archly. "Not yet."

Joan breathed with infinite relief. Perhaps, she thought, she will make a bargain with me. A bargain wherein I shall promise to disappear in return for her silence. If she plans to do that, then she will not speak of it now. She will wait until Bob has gone. She will wait.

As the minutes slowly passed and Sybil said no more, Joan was sure that was her intention. What she could not guess was that Philip had merely phoned from his hotel in San Francisco to announce his arrival in that city, following the trail. "I'm getting warmer," he had said. "It won't be long now." And Sybil had amplified his words to amuse herself.

Finally it was 10 o'clock and Bob was preparing to go, and Joan and Sybil were exchanging good night pleasantries in meaningless but adequate phrases. Even in the few minutes that she was alone with Sybil upstairs in the rose and silver boudoir, there was nothing said. Not even when Sybil graciously retrieved the black kid gloves Joan had dropped, and their hands met—Sybil's burning and feverish, and Joan's cold and clammy as death. Whatever was in Sybil's mind, she gave no hint of it. She mummured only, to cover the confusion of the moment: "What lovely gloves, Joan! I like the petit-point trimming . . . "

And Bob, waiting at the foot of the stairs, smiled approvingly as they came down together. It was great, he thought, that Joan and Sybil were hitting it off together so nicely.

Driving the few blocks to the Inn in Bob's roadster, Joan said her silent farewell to him. The words she might have expressed the depth of her love for him—she could not bring to her lips. He would understand, she told herself. In his heart he would realize why she was leaving him—why she was sacrificing their love now rather than have its fine bright flame turn to bitter ashes as they tried to live together under the shadow of the past. He would understand, and he would cherish the memory of their brief happiness.

Nothing that Sybil might tell him could tarnish that memory. Whatever the world thought of Joan Barrett, he would know that she had possessed courage and strength and honor.

Bob chatted on, all oblivious to the tumult within her, because now, after she had steeled herself to meet the first shock, she found that her actions obeyed her will more easily.

They found Mr. Hendry and Norton in the grill, chatting amiably over brandy and soda. And even with the pressure of her own tragedy overwhelming her, Joan felt a moment of concern lest the two men become a little garrulous and drop some careless remark about the money in Mr. Hendry's possession.

Norton's words, as she and Bob came upon them, gave rise to a greater foundation for her fears.

". . . in those days, you old softie," he was saying to Mr. Hendry, "we thought nothing of having our entire fortune in our pockets—a few gold nuggets tied up in a dirty handkerchief. All this talk of thieves and robbers—bosh! Don't be an old woman, John!" He laughed boisterously, and his manner attracted attention.

He rose quickly and gallantly, however, as he saw Joan approaching their table.

"If it isn't our little Sunshine Girl!" he said blusteringly. "Ask her to join us, John. I don't have a convincing way with the ladies. Here's a chair, my dear!" He drew it out for her with exaggerated chivalry. Then, seeing Bob in her wake, he added carelessly: "Oh, hello, Andrews."

"Hello, Mr. Norton. I wonder if I might leave Miss Barrett with you for just a moment while I talk to Mr. Hendry?"

"Nothing would please more," Norton smiled with satisfaction, and he resumed his seat quickly. "Run along, both of you, and don't hurry back."

"Nonsense!" Mr. Hendry objected. "Bring up a chair, Bob. "We'll thrash our problems out right here. Bless my soul, I never had a secret from Charley Norton. Never in my life. Brandy for you, Bob?"

"No, thank you, sir. I have to hurry a bit, I'm afraid." He sat down with them.

young lady? Glass of wine? No. I "How about something for you, have it—a little champagne?"

Joan protested quickly. "No, Mr. Hendry. No thank you. Nothing at all, please."

"We just had a very excellent dinner at Sybil's," Bob explained.

"We mustn't spoil the effect of it so soon. . . . Now, about this Washington business, Mr. Hendry."

For a few moments they talked, and Joan was left to the rugged pleasantries of Mr. Norton.

Curiously, he no longer bothered her. Nothing so trivial as an overly attentive Mr. Norton could ever bother her again. She was numb to the ordinary sensations of annoyance or enjoyment.

Bob rose presently, consulting his watch.

"It's nearly 10:30," he remarked. "I've just time to run upstairs and throw a few things into a bag. I must catch that 11:10 train from here in order to make connections at Pennsylvania station. Will you take care of my girl for a few minutes, Mr. Hendry?"

"Will I take care of her?" Hendry chuckled. "Bless my soul! Didn't I find her for you in the first place, you young ingrate?"

After Bob left them, Norton also considered the time.

"John," he said presently, "I think I might as well get that 11:10 train, too."

"Don't do that, Charley, Hendry objected. "Why not stay in Green Hills for the night? I can put you up."

"No, thanks, John. I get to New York seldom enough, and when I do I like to sleep with Broadway ringing in my ears. Unless," he added, "you need a stout feller like me for protection tonight—" He laughed insinuatingly.

"Shush, Charley! You're a reckless fool!"

Joan looked about the grill with a conspicuous gesture, seeking a way to divert Norton's attention. In a few moments, everybody in the grill would know just how much money Mr. Hendry had with him.

Norton noticed the gesture. "Looking for the waiter?" he asked. "I'll call him."

"No," Joan interrupted. "Don't get him—I thought I recognized a friend's voice, but I don't seem to see her. . . ."

At that moment, as if in answer to her silent wish, she did hear the merry laugh of Dorothy Starke in the corridor beyond the grill. The next instant, Dorothy entered. Joan waved to her.

"Will you excuse me, Mr. Hendry?" she pleaded. "It is my friend, as I thought. I'd like to speak to her a moment. . . ."

"Run along, my dear. Run along."

Joan's panic was mirrored in her face as she dragged Dorothy off to a deserted corner of the dressing room.

"Are you alone, Dorothy? Did I break up a party?" she asked nervously.

"Not at all. I've just been playing bridge with Millie and Jim Sanders and a very dull young man. . . . What in the world is the trouble, Joan? Have you seen another ghost?"

She looked anxiously into Joan's eyes.

"It's Sybil," Joan whispered. "She knows. She knows everything."

"Who said so?"

"She did—practically." Joan repeated Sybil's peculiar remarks about Philip's secret survey. "I'm sure it has to do with me, Dorothy. He went to Chicago first—then to Seattle. That seems more than coincidence. And tonight he called up from San Francisco with some choice gossip. Those were Sybil's exact words. . . ."

"That doesn't prove anything," Dorothy said severely. But she was frowning, nevertheless. "Where's Bob now?"

"Upstairs, packing a bag. He's leaving for Washington immediately. Dorothy, that's the only thing I'm grateful for. He doesn't know yet. He won't know—until I've gone. . . ."

Dorothy's frown deepened, but she realized that this was not the moment to argue.

"Keep your chin up, Joan," she said instead, "until we put him safely on the train. Or would you rather be alone—"

"No, come to the station with us. That Mr. Norton is taking the same train, too. We wouldn't be alone, anyway."

"All right, I will. Come now, you need powder on your nose. And a little lipstick—Joan, even your lips are white! Darling, don't tremble so. . . ."

Officers Elected By Local Women's Group

B. And P. W. Club Honors Mrs. George Wesley Smith For Outstanding Leadership

A year of splendid achievement under the guidance of Mrs. George Wesley Smith, president, was concluded last week for members of the Business and Professional Women's club, who held their annual election of officers.

As a token of esteem and appreciation for the work accomplished by Mrs. Smith, members of the club presented her with a handsome gold emblem pin.

Mrs. Smith, appreciative of the courtesies shown her by two officers, Miss Nora Downs and Mrs. Mable Fisher, presented each with a beautiful oil painting from her own brush.

Officers elected for the ensuing year are: President, Miss Mary O'Kelly; vice-president, Miss Eleanor Faulk; second vice-president, Miss Florence Powers; treasurer, Miss Alice Bauer; secretary, Miss Goldie Copes.

Mrs. Smith's retirement from presidency of the Business and Professional Women's club conjures up an interesting chain of thought. Her life has been crowded with interesting achievements dating back to the time when she served as member of the Rayville city council—the first woman in the state ever to serve in such capacity. She was named colonel on the governor's staff by former Governor James A. Noe in recognition of her outstanding work.

Mrs. Smith, guest speaker at a recent meeting of literary clubs in Bastrop, addressed the assemblage on a subject of great interest concerning the history of art in Louisiana. Mrs. Smith, an artist of unusual ability, disclosed several interesting facts and brought to light several obscure artists who are forging ahead and carving a name for themselves.

In completing her term as president of the Business and Professional Women's club of this city Mrs. Smith said:

"I wish I could paint you a true picture of the influence of womanhood on the great men of all the ages, dating back to the King of men, that lowly man of Nazareth, whose life must have been influenced to a wonderful degree by his mother, Mary.

"You are all familiar with the Bible story of Jacob and Rachel: How Jacob served seven years for Rachel's hand, and then, due to the trickery of her father, Leah, was given to him instead, and how Jacob served seven more years without pay before he finally received Rachel for his wife, and how he was inspired to noble deeds the rest of his life as leader of the Jewish people, by his love for Rachel.

"Down through the ages, women have influenced the lives of such men as Washington, Jefferson, Coolidge, Wilson, Lindbergh and hundreds of others.

"Florence Nightingale, that wonderful woman of her time; Jane Adams, the world's most famous welfare worker; the great Madam Schuman-Heink; Ann Morrow Lindbergh; our president's charming mother and his gifted wife, have all earned their names in the hall of fame.

"Twenty years ago the public would have said 'Woman Emerges.' Ten years ago it would have been 'Woman Progresses,' but today it is as it always was, 'Woman Marches On,' and it dates back to the individual accomplishments of many, many centuries.

"So with woman's influence marching on and on, with over sixty-five thousand women in the Business and Professional Women's club asking God to put into action our better impulse, straightforward and unafraid, we will see woman's influence going strong and mightier in higher places in the world."

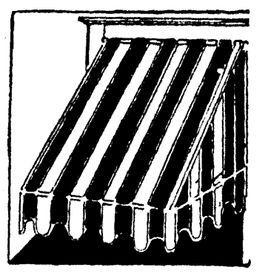
Make This 15-Minute Test to See How Much Heat Comes Through Your Windows



This afternoon place a thermometer in a west room leaving the windows just as you always do and see how hot it is, then put the thermometer in an east room and see for yourself the number of degrees difference.

Tests We Have Made Show From 10 to 15 Degrees

Awnings keep this sun from striking your windows, giving you shady side temperature at all times.

Air conditioning experiments have proved that windows admit four times as much heat as the walls of a house and that awnings shut out half the sun's heat.

Whether you have air conditioning or not you need awnings.

The cost is small per year if awnings are taken down through winter.

If awnings are taken down through winter you should get 6 to 8 years' service from our awnings made from John Boyle and Company canvass of which we are the sole distributors in this territory.

There is no obligation connected with our estimates. Call us and let us tell you what it costs to put awnings on the proper windows of your house to give the most benefit.

Miss Virginia Norris And Ensign Eugene A. Barham Married At Oak Ridge

Historic Old Church Is Scene Of Nuptials

Two Prominent Morehouse Parish Families United By Impressive Ceremony June 11

A wedding of social prominence which claimed the interest of a wide circle of friends was that of Ensign Eugene A. Barham, U. S. N., and Miss Virginia Norris, which was solemnized on Friday evening, June 11, 1937, at the Oak Ridge Methodist church, Rev. J. H. Midyett officiating. This historic edifice was beautifully decorated with white Shasta daisies, ferns, English ivy and garlands of native evergreen. The altar was enclosed with lattice work over which were entwined ferns and daisies. Loops of white tulle fluttered from the pews reserved for members of the family and intimate friends.

The Gothic windows were festooned with ivy and centered with three-branched candelabra supporting cathedral tapers.

A pre-nuptial concert was rendered by Mrs. R. C. Windsor, organist, and Mr. James C. Rolfe, who sang "Because" and "Each Thought of You."

The groomsmen were Dr. G. E. Barham, Mr. Neill W. Mott, Mr. Allen C. Barham, Mr. William Carroll, Jr., and Mr. C. E. Shepard.

The bridesmaids, Misses Sarah Street, Jeanette Norris, Sarah Virginia Bridgers and Mrs. James Baskerville, wore white marquisette models with coronets of white roses in their hair, and carried sheaves of white daisies and ferns.

The matrons of honor, Mrs. T. O. Files, Jr., and Mrs. C. E. Shepard, wore gowns that were an exact replica of those worn by the bridesmaids. They also carried sheaves of white daisies.

The bride, walking with her father, Mr. H. J. Norris, who gave her in marriage, wore a beautiful white satin wedding gown, en train, with veil of illusion, caught to the hair cap fashion. She carried an arm bouquet of white bride's roses and valley lilies.

Mr. William T. Barham served as best man.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where beauty of decoration prevailed. Mrs. Norris, mother of the bride, extended courtesies in dusty pink lace model, and Mrs. T. E. Barham, mother of the bridegroom, received in a blue lace model.

Frosted fruit frappe was served from a crystal bowl centering a lace draped table and presided over by Miss Hope Ross and Miss Eugenia Files.

The wedding cake, a luscious three-tier, heart-shaped confection, was made by the bridegroom's mother. It was surmounted by a miniature bride and groom standing under a wedding bell.

The bride changed her wedding gown for a smart tailleur, and left with Mr. Barham for San Diego, Calif., where they will make their home in the future.

The wedding of this popular couple united two prominent families who have been associated with the history of Morehouse parish since ante-bellum days.

COMPANY HEADS RECITE BENEFITS OF MODERNIZATION

Efficiency Of Plant Increases, President Says Of Rehabilitation

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—Increased operating efficiency, a reductoin in waste of materials, and a corresponding improvement in the quality of its products are the chief benefits which the Knapp-Monarch Co., of St. Louis realized from a complete rehabilitation of its plant.

The work, done with the aid of the modernization credit plan of the Federal Housing Administration, covered what ordinarily would require five years before the concern moved to its present location.

Entire Plant Gains

"Complete modernization of our factory at this time, instead of taking the departments singly or as needed, means the whole plant will function efficiently," said A. S. Knapp, president of the Knapp-Monarch Co. "We did five years' work in one, thus helping business in general by our expenditures for new equipment and machinery and at the same time avoiding delays and tie-ups which usually follow when one department breaks down.

"Being able to do this work, in cooperation with the modernization credit plan of the Federal Housing Adminstration, means that we did not disturb our working capital."

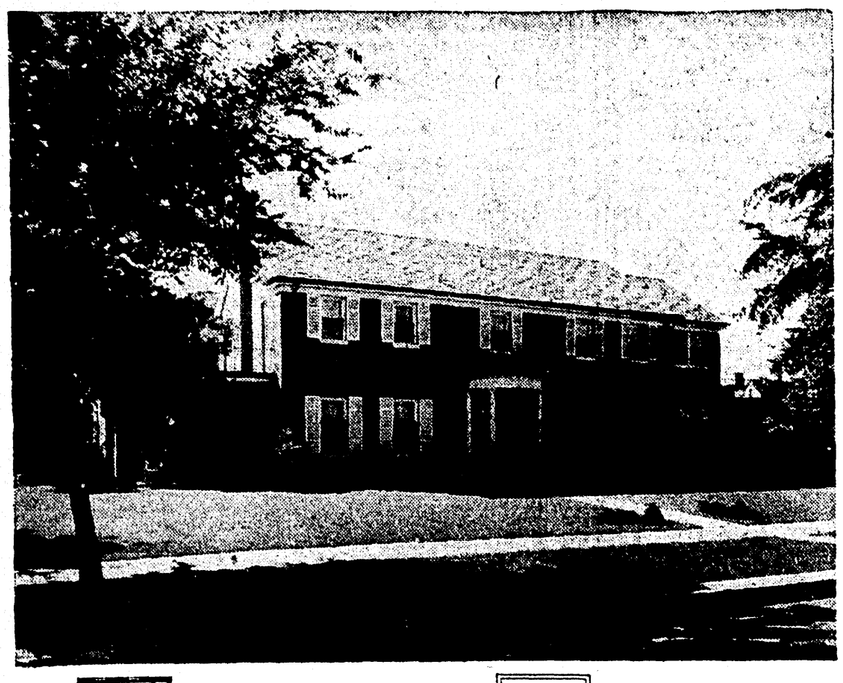
Manufacturing concerns over the country are busy improving their equipment and buildings, according to the records of the Federal Housing Administration. Approximately one-third of all of the class A modernization loans (that is, those for over $2,000) have been made to industrial companies. About half the money has been spent for enlarging, improving, and remodeling plants and the remainder for the purchase and installation of machinery and equipment.

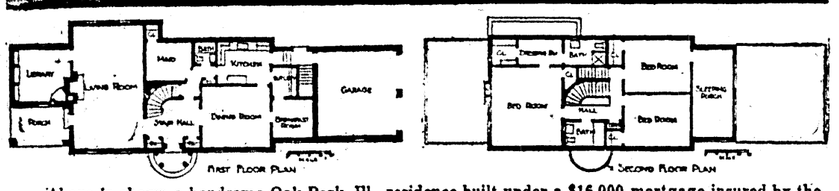
Insured Credit Available

Recent changes in the National Housing Act require that where modernization credit is advanced to finance purchases of machinery and equipment the expenditure for this purpose must exceed $2,000. Installation of such permanent improvements as electrical, heating and plumbing systems are not considered as equipment and, like plant alterations, have no minimum ruling.

Insured modernization credit funds up to $50,000 are available to manufacturers, up to April 1, 1937, for improving their plants and purchasing new machinery and equipment. The banks, commercial trust companies, and other private lending agencies extending such credit are insured up to 10 per cent of their total loans by the Federal Housing Administration. Notes may run as long as five years but must be repaid in monthly installments. Interest and other charges may be as low as the bank and customer agree to, but in no event can they total more than the equivalent of a $5 discount per $100 face value of a one-year monthly installment note.

Built Under "Single Mortgage System"





Above is shown a handsome Oak Park, Ill., residence built under a $16,000 mortgage insured by the Federal Housing Administration. Actual construction costs were a little more than $19,000. The mortgage runs for 20 years. Monthly payments on this mortgage approximate $120, including taxes, amortization, interest, and insurance. The photograph shows the exterior of the dwelling. The floor plan shows a generous hall with a gracefully curving stair which meets the eye of a guest upon entering the home. The arrangement of the larg living room, library, and porch is convenient and logical. The circulation of the service portion to hall, dining room, and garage is especially good. On the second floor (note floor plan) the owner's bedroom and dressing room, closet and connecting bath is luxurious but proper in a house of this size and character. The closet space for all rooms is generous, and the sleeping porch is especially adapted to families where there are two or more brothers or sisters sharing accommodations. This represents a maximum insured mortgage. The house was designed by W. W. Wilkins, architect.

Proper Home Lighting Effective In Reducing Number Of Accidents

Proper maintenance and adequate lighting of the home are among the most effective means known of reducing the number of accidents, fatal and otherwise, in the United States.

Last year more than 30 per cent of the 31,500 accidental deaths occurring in the United States took place in the supposed security of the home—more than twice the number of these taking place in all kinds of gainful employment. A similar proportion of the 140,000 permanently disabling injuries and 4,609,000 temporary disabilities caused by accidents took place in the home. The figures are those reported by the National Safety council.

A house adequately lighted with convenient fixtures and controlling switches affords protection against accident. The substitution of modern electric wiring for the out-moded variety may prevent fires. A sufficient number of electric outlets to care for dangling electric wires or those left lying on floors for the use of radios, lamps, and equipment may offset the possibility of dangerous falls.

In finishing floors safeguarding against possible slipping and resultant dangerous accidents should be considered. Steps and stairs well planned, with railings or banisters may mean protection to life and limb.

Stoves, heating plants, water heaters, etc., should not represent fire hazards and care must be taken to guard against burns and fire from these necessary household necessities.

Every possible safeguard against accident in the home is well worth the money and effort expended. Through the modernization credit plan of the Federal Housing Administration many corrections may be made in homes that will tend to reduce accident and offer measures to promote and secure safety.

Private financial institutions insured by the Federal Housing Administration advance credit to responsible citizens for the modernization of properties and for the protection of those who live or work therein.

Repairs Prompt Similar Work On Four Stores

WINSLOW, Ariz.—Modernization of a business establishment here immediately resulted in similar improvements on four other stores in the business district here. Approximately $10,000 was spent on the four projects, according to the Federal Housing insuring office here.

The local manager of the Babbit Lumber company reports that immediately after a modernization job was completed on a residential property he was able to sell six other remodeling jobs within 500 feet of the original project. The lumber company's sales it is said, are running approximately $100,000 ahead of sales in 1934. More than one-third of this increase is directly attributable to business financed under the Federal Housing Administration's modernization credit plan.

Native of Australia, a spider measuring only one-fortieth of an inch is said to be the smallest of its class.

Inspection By FHA Produces $1,000 Economy

NEWARK, N. J.—The careful examination of a mortgage proposal by the Federal Housing Administration staff in the local insuring office was directly responsible recently for saving a prospective home builder $1,000.

After appraisal it was discovered by housing administration experts that construction costs as estimated by the contractor were $1,000 too great. The prospective mortgagor was informed of this fact by the New Jersey office. He interviewed the contractor. Investigation revealed that a mistake had been made in figuring certain costs. The builder agreed that the price of the house should be reduced by $1,000.

IN MIXING PAINTS USE SIMILAR TYPES

The three primary colors—red, yellow and blue—can be intermixed to produce all other colors as well as a neutral gray. In mixing paint, however, always use similar types—enamel with enamel, lacquer with lacquer, etc.

White is probably one of the most extensively used colors for exterior painting. It is always in good taste, no matter what the size or architecture of the house. Individuality may be secured through attractive trim colors.

Borrower Saves $2,500 Through Housing Program

LOS ANGELES, Calif.—Guy R. Daniel, classified-advertising manager of the Los Angeles Examiner, here, saved $2,500 on the purchase price of a property through advice from Federal Housing administration underwriters.

In a letter to G. D. King, assistant chief underwriter in the Los Angeles office, he said in part:

"I am writing to thank you personally and also various other members of the Federal Housing administration for their aid in helping me to secure a Title II loan on my property. Because of your advice and help I was able to save $2,500 on the total purchase price and was able to do a complete remodeling job on the amount of money you enabled me to save.

"I want to emphatically state that all the members of the Los Angeles office of the Federal Housing administration whom I had occasion to contact while my loan was in the process of being insured were attentive, courteous, and more than considerate, even in the smaller details."

CONTRACTS SHOULD BE FULLY UNDERSTOOD

A frequent cause of dissatisfaction between home builder and architect is a misunderstanding over the things not included in the contract. Before signing any document with architect or builder there should be a distinct understanding of what is included in the price and what is not. The financing of a new home may be accomplished under the insured mortgage system of the Federal Housing administration.

CAREFUL TRAINING AIDS VALUATING ABILITY OF STAFF

FHA Underwriting System Safeguards Both Lender And The Borrower

WASHINGTON—Material savings and many safeguards to private financial institutions as well as to borrowers have resulted from an advanced course of training in property valuation and risk rating given to the underwriting staff of the Federal Housing administration.

In addition, the training given the staff gives greater stability to the home mortgages insured under terms of the national housing act. Because of advanced training given the staff in a series of schools, as well as through their extensive work in a large field, the activity of the underwriting division, of which Frederick M. Babcock is chief, performs an important function in checking the judgment of private financial institutions in regard to mortgage risk.

Staff Qualified

Underwriting staff members of the housing administration are exceptionally well qualified in the field of risk rating because they have the benefit of their own experience as well as that of all lenders operating under the insured mortgage system. With this enlarged perspective, it is conceivable, according to Mr. Babcock, that Federal Housing administration staff men are in a better position to recognize risks than any one institution operating under the system.

The course of training, he explained embraces all the considerations included in risk rating. In determining the eligibility of properties for governmental mortgage insurance, the underwriting staff takes into consideration such factors as neighborhood trends, economic background of communities, design and plan factors, relation to utilities, the ratio between the mortgage and the value of the property, and the ratio between the required monthly payments and the borrower's income.

Underwriting staff members, Mr. Babcock explained, were carefully selected with attention to past experience, knowledge of home construction and mortgage loans, and general character. At present there are 763 salaried and per diem employes on the staff: 65 chief underwriters, 24 assistants to the chief underwriters; 47 preliminary examiners; 89 mortgage-risk examiners; 318 valuators; and 220 architectural inspectors.

The "dust bowl," as defined by government agencies, consists of a 90,779,555-acre expanse in Oklahoma, Texas, Kansas, Colorado and New Mexico.

Sprinkler Now Available For Homes, Stores

The Federal Housing administration's modernization credit plan makes possible the improvement and safeguarding of residential and business properties by the installation of sprinkler equipment, which may be obtained with funds procurable at approved private financial institutions.

While automatic sprinkler equipment for larger buildings has been available for many years, it is only recently that a junior installation has been designed especially for the individual dwelling, the small apartment, schools, churches and other small-building occupancies.

The junior system includes all the vital elements of standard automatic sprinkler protection. It is fed from the domestic water supply through flexible copper tubing on which a series of sprinkler heads is mounted. These are special heads which operate rapidly. An alarm feature is also provided.

An interesting feature of the junior sprinkling system is that it can be installed by an experienced plumbing contractor in a few hours.

BREAKFAST NOOK

An innovation growing in popularity among American housewives is the breakfast nook. By applying wainscoting to the lower half of two corner walls and investing in two built-in hardwood benches and a table, it is possible to add another "room" to the house. Wainscoting is available in many attractive designs: Imitation marble, tile, and color panels.

FHA ASSISTS IN COMPILING PLAN FOR BETTER LIGHT

Suggestions Sent To 20,000 Electrical Contractors Over Nation

WASHINGTON, D. C.—In cooperation with the electrical contracting industry, the Federal Housing Administration has assisted in compiling a "17-step" plan including suggestions how contractors may increase their earnings. The suggestions have been sent to 20,000 electrical contractors.

The 17-point program suggested to the industry is, briefly, as follows: "Call on your local Federal Housing Administration office. See your banks or other lending institutions. Visit architects, engineers and builders. Contact utilities and inspectors. Complete your prospect list. Sell home owners more adequate wiring and lighting. Sell stores better wiring and lighting. Sell industrials rewiring and lighting. Sell rewiring and relighting to hotels, apartment houses, etc. Wire and light farm houses. Advertise better wiring and lighting. Get leads through appliance sales. Ask wiring customers for leads. Always offer free inspection service. Show prospects electrical systems in model homes. Sell adequacy for future needs. Use quality materials and workmanship."

Each of the 17 suggestions is elaborated upon and was distributed through the industries division of the Federal Housing Administration.

New Screen Lovers Seen In Romance

'History Is Made At Night' Is Smart Film With Parisian Background

CHARLES BOYER and Jean Arthur, a fascinating new pair of screen lovers, slip into town today in a film romance as fresh and smart and charming as the Paris in which it blooms.

The occasion is "History is Made at Night," Walter Wanger's second production for release through United Artists, and this story from the twin typewriters of that inimitable team of Gene Towne and Graham Baker fairly sparkles with bright, gay, flippant dialogue that we wager you'll be quoting for weeks.

The handsome Boyer has never been seen to better advantage than as Paul Dumond, Paris man about town and glorified head waiter, and lovely Jean Arthur is also at her charming best as Irene Vail, the New York mannequin who yearns to break the bonds of her unhappy marriage to the jealous, domineering shipping magnate, played by Colin Clive.

The story opens on a novel note, with Paul, the handsome and mysterious stranger, playing knight errant to Irene when her husband sends his chauffeur (Ivan Lebedeff) to her hotel suite to compromise her so she'll be compelled to drop her divorce proceedings. Paul floors the chauffeur, carries off Irene and a glorious romance is begun as these two fascinating and fascinated strangers dine and tango 'til dawn in the smart Paris cafe where Paul is, unknown to Irene, head waiter. The ever-reliable Leo Carrillo provides another grand portrayal as Cesare, the temperamental chef of the cafe.

A tragic note is introduced when Irene arrives home and finds that Paul's blow has killed the chauffeur. Now Vail feels he can force her to drop her divorce proceedings to save the handsome stranger.

She returns to New York with him, but finds she cannot remain with Vail, and takes a job as mannequin.

Paul, meanwhile, has pursued her to New York, where he and Cesare take over a fashionable cafe, Victor's. Irene, learning she is wanted in Paris in regard to the murder, offers to return with Vail to help save Paul. But when he takes her to Victor's for dinner and she sees that Paul is free, the lovers are reunited and plan to return to Paris together aboard Vail's new crack luxury liner and save the prisoner who is being unjustly held there.

One of the most unexpected and amazing climaxes in screen history follows—one that it would be unfair to reveal here—and the story ends on a happy note.

Frank Borzage has treated the production to his usual splendid direction, the entire cast acts splendidly, and the total result is one of the grandest pieces of entertainment that has warmed the heart of this cinemagoer in months. "History Is Made at Night" will make cinema history.

HOME CLUB MEETS

The Logtown home demonstration club held its regular business session Wednesday in the home of Mrs. W. A. Brandt at Bosco. Mrs. John Filhiol presided. A cake walk will be held at the home of Mrs. C. McCoy at 4104 Lee avenue Friday July 2 to finance trips to the short course to be held at L. S. U. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. E. E. Lutz on July 14.

They make love and history is made! Dark-eyed Charles Boyer and blonde Jean Arthur are the handsome new team of screen lovers in a scene from the new film romance, "History Is Made at Night," which plays at the Paramount theater today and Monday.
